Preliminary Forecast of the Sugarcane crop in Bengal, 1900.

Explanatory.—Previous to 1899 no separate forecasts or final reports on the sugarcane crop of this Province were published, a note on this crop being incorporated in the report on the rabi harvest. With Government order No. 144T.—R., dated the 22nd May 1899, instructions were received for the preparation and publication of separate forecasts and separate final reports regarding the crop. The following preliminary forecast of the area and outturn of the sugarcane crop in Bengal for the year 1900 is accordingly issued for general information.

As it has not yet been possible to obtain reliable estimates of the sugar produced in the different districts from other sources than cane, no statistics regarding the production of this sugar are furnished in this report. Such information as has been received from any district has been noted in the remarks column of the statement appended to this report.

The character of the season.—In January the rainfall was below the average in all Divisions except Bhagalpur, Patna, and Chota Nagpur, where the fall was above the normal, and in the case of the last two Divisions was somewhat excessive for the month. In February there were some scattered showers, and altogether the fall was below the normal for the month in most parts of the Province. In Nadia, Jessore, Khulna, and Dacca the fall was above the average. In March the rainfall was deficient in a much greater degree than in the previous month throughout the Province, excepting at Mymensingh and Balasore, where it considerably exceeded the normal. There were some good showers in April in the Burdwan, Orissa, and Chota Nagpur Divisions, and also in the district of Mymensingh, but in all other districts the fall was more or less below the average, and in some cases nil. In May again the rainfall was considerably in defect, but the fall was general, every district receiving some more or less good showers. There was rain in all parts of the Province in the first and third weeks of June, while during the other two weeks there were light showers in scattered districts. In the beginning of July the rainfall was general but slight all over the Province. Fair rain has fallen since in most districts. On the whole the season has been a comparatively dry one; and although the sugarcane crop has not yet suffered much anywhere for want of moisture, the outturn will greatly depend on the monsoon conditions during the next two months.

Area sown.—The District Officers of Tippera and Chittagong have revised their estimates of normal area since the date of the last final report, and in consequence the provincial total now stands at 894,200 acres as compared with 889,900 acres returned last year. The District Officers of Nadia, Chittagong, Manbhum, and Puri have submitted revised figures as regards the area under sugarcane last year in those districts. In consequence of this, the total area under sugarcane in the Province in 1899 is now reported to have been 872,600 acres instead of 860,200 acres, the figures entered in the final report of the crop last year. In the current year, the total area under this crop is reported to be 861,100 acres. There is thus a decrease of 11,500 acres. There is a decrease of some 14,700 acres in Palamau alone, but the cause of this considerable reduction is not explained by the Deputy Commissioner. It is probably due to the comparatively short rainfall of the past sowing season.

Outturn.—From the statement summarising the district returns which is appended to this forecast, it will be seen that an outturn above the average is expected in only five districts, while in 16 districts the outturn is estimated at the normal. In six districts the estimates vary between 90 and 100 per cent. of a normal crop, and in as many other districts they vary between 80 and 90, while in the remaining 12 districts they fall below 80 per cent. of the normal.

According to the district returns, the outturn of the sugarcane crop this year in Bengal should be estimated at 95 per cent. of a normal crop, against 84 per cent. estimated as the actual outturn in the final report of 1899.

In most of the more important sugarcane districts the outturn has been estimated at the normal or above the normal, and I anticipate that if the remaining monsoon season is not unfavourable, a normal outturn will be obtained in the Province as a whole.

Burdwan	Burdwan ...	1,726,080	1,283,200	27,400	27,400	27,400	72	100
	Birbhum ...	1,121,920	900,000	9,000	7,000	8,000	61	75	In Bolpur and Suri sugar is produced from the date-palm and the outturn is estimated at 36,000 and 280 lbs., respectively. The crop is at present promising.	The estimate of the outturn at 75 per cent. would appear to be too low.
	Bankura ..	1,677,440	642,800	15,000	17,500	15,500	88	100	No sugar is manufactured from the date-palm, but about 2,000 maunds of gur are produced in the Vishnupur subdivision. The quantity of gur produced in the Sadar subdivision, if any, is insignificant.
	Midnapore ...	3,219,040	2,113,200	20,400	19,700	16,300	92	84	The contraction of the sugarcane area this year at the Sadar is due to want of rain at the time of planting and to high wages prevailing in some localities. In the Contai subdivision, this crop is being gradually given up in favour of date-palms, &c.
	Hooghly ...	1,087,360	701,200	14,500	12,800	13,700	79	81	For seasonable rains the outturn is expected to be good.	The outturn of 81 per cent. would appear to be too low an estimate.
Presidency—contd.	24-Parganas ...	3,574,351	1,102,080	4,800	4,000	4,500	107	107	Owing to the favourable rainfall, the outturn is expected to be above the average. Gur is manufactured from palm juice in the Diamond Harbour subdivision. The average yield of gur per tree is estimated to be 30 seers or 60 lbs. a year.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Presidency—concld.	Nadia ...	1,755,160	1,305,000	14,000	14,000	18,000	80	65	The decrease in the area sown this year is due to the unfavourable state of the weather during the sowing season, but there has been reasonable rain since. The early and better outturn is expected. The amount of sugar produced from other sources (date-palm) is roughly estimated at 2,711,000 lbs.
	Murshidabad	1,573,440	985,500	17,500	17,000	17,000	100	77	The decrease is the estimated outturn is due to deficiency of rain. No sugar is produced in this district either from the date-palm or from any other source.
	Jessore ...	1,672,000	1,142,100	15,000	14,900	15,000	82	86	The outturn this year is expected to be better than that of the preceding year owing to favourable weather at the planting time. The rough estimate of sugar produced from date-palms may be taken as below :— Md. Sugar ... ... 19,000 Gur ... ... 182,500 There are no other sources from which sugar is produced in this district.
	Khulna ...	2,168,943	670,000	3,100	3,300	3,100	88	86

Rajshahi	Rajshahi ...	1,963,040	1,222,100	15,000	14,500	15,500	108	96	Sugar is not produced from date-palms and other sources in the Sadar and Nawgaon subdivisions. In the Nator subdivision about 900 maunds of sugar are said to be produced from date-palms.
	Dinajpur ...	2,222,050	1,071,320	24,000	23,000	30,000	106	113	The late heavy rains are reported to have done much good to the sugarcane, and it is expected that the outturn this year will be about 15 per cent. above the normal. No sugar is manufactured either from sugarcane or the date-palm or any other source.
	Jalpaiguri ...	1,254,600	1,072,000	3,100	3,300	3,500	80	60	The area sown this year as well as the outturn expected are small owing to want of rain in the sowing season.
	Darjeeling ...	744,960	146,600	400	500	500	100	67	No sugar is produced in this district from any other sources than cane.
	Rangpur ...	2,521,040	1,602,700	24,100	23,040	23,500	97	100	The increase in the area and outturn is due to favourable rainfall.
	Bogra ...	980,760	660,600	12,800	13,060	13,500	80	100	The weather appears to be favourable for the crop. Hence a better outturn is expected.
	Pabna ...	1,175,960	892,800	66,000	63,000	69,000	60	80	No sugar is produced from the date-palm or from any other sources in this district.
Dacca—concld.	Dacca ...	1,769,680	1,218,560	20,000	21,000	20,000	70	100	The floods last year not having been high, some low-lying lands have been brought under sugarcane cultivation in addition to the high lands usually under this crop. This accounts for the increase in area over the last year's figure.
	Mymensingh	4,032,480	2,404,700	35,000	33,000	33,000	70	90	The season has been favourable for the crop so far. Very little sugar is produced from the date-palm. It is not manufactured from any other source.
	Faridpur ...	1,480,840	1,097,600	42,000	43,000	45,000	100	100	An average outturn may be expected, except in Netrokona, where the crop is reported to have suffered from want of rain. Sugar is not produced from the date-palm in this district. The quantity of sugar produced from other sources is too small to be reported.
									The rainfall of the year has been favourable to the crop, so an average outturn is expected.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11
Dacca—concld.	Backergunge	2,333,360	1,466,000	30,000	20,000	20,000	100	100	The crop is thriving well. As previously remarked, the date palms are not grown here in regular orchards. Hence it is impossible to give any figure for the area covered by date-palms. It is also difficult to give any accurate estimate of the number of date-palms in the district. One date-palm tree produces 15 to 20 seers of gur in a year and one maund of date gur produces 25 or 30 seers, or about 2cwts. of sugar.
Chittagong ...	Tippera ...	1,694,080	1,171,200	15,000	12,000	13,000	90	97	The area has been revised by special enquiry so far as it relates to the Brahmanbaria subdivision. The state of the crop up to date is favourable. Sugar is not produced from the date-palm or any other sources.
	Noakhali ...	1,022,080	815,000	900	600	600	70	71	The soil of this district is not suited to the cultivation of sugarcane, and the outturn is therefore much below the average. Sugar is not manufactured in this district. Molasses are prepared to some extent from the date-palm.
	Chittagong ...	1,894,541	806,000	9,200	9,000	9,000	85	85
	Pabna ...	1,332,160	930,880	3,000	3,300	3,300	98	95	Sugar is prepared from sugarcane only. The season has been favourable for sugarcane. In Bihar subdivision, however, some of the plants have been eaten up by white-ants.

Patna	Gaya ...	2,015,660	2,227,600	30,000	30,000	105	100	Sugar is not produced from any other source except from sugarcane in this district.
	Shahabad ...	2,705,560	2,661,880	36,000	36,000	45	100	The prospects are so far good.
	Saran ...	1,609,057	1,211,160	40,000	47,000	100	105	The increase in area is due, in the first place, to the rise in the price of raw sugar or gur and, secondly, to the fact that in many places, the rabi was almost entirely ruined by hail in January last, and therefore the cultivation of sugarcane was extended over rabi crop areas.
	Champaran ...	2,239,440	1,264,000	13,000	17,000	75	100	The normal area is reported to have been sown with sugarcane. In this district sugar is not produced from the date-palm or any other sources than the sugarcane.
	Muzaffarpur ...	1,941,324	1,554,320	8,800	8,000	95	75	Low outturn due to want of rain in the hot weather. No sugar from any sources other than sugarcane is produced in this district.
	Darbhanga ...	2,124,400	1,330,700	71,900	73,300	81	100	The approximate average yield of gur per acre is 2,105 lbs.
	Monghyr ...	2,509,440	1,373,240	6,500	6,700	73	105	Sugar is not produced from any other sources in this district.
	Bhagalpur ...	3,704,640	2,067,000	84,700	84,700	95	115	The weather has been favourable up to date. No sugar is produced in this district from sources other than cane.
	Purnea ...	3,125,520	1,611,600	9,500	9,100	81	77	The decrease in the area sown is due to the prevalence of cholera amongst the cultivators, and want of rain in April. Drought is the cause of decrease in outturn. No sugar is produced from date palm, etc., in this district.
Bhagalpur ...	Malda ...	1,216,000	611,600	4,000	4,200	87	75	The decrease in area and outturn is due to want of sufficient rainfall at the time of planting sugarcane. Besides this, the soil of this district is not suitable for sugarcane. Sugar is not produced either from date palm or from any other sources, but about 2,800 lbs. of gur per acre are produced from sugarcane in this district.
	Santhal Parganas.	2,889,160	1,939,300	15,700	16,700	85	107	The outturn is expected to be a little better than that of the last year owing to timely rainfall. Sugar is not produced from the date-palm and from other sources in this district.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT ON THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY FOR THE YEAR 1899-1900.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Calcutta, the 12th August 1900.

RESOLUTION—No. 4198Mis.

READ—

The Report on the Government Cinchona Plantation and Factory in Bengal for the year 1899 1900.

Read also—

The Report for 1898-99 and the Resolution of Government recorded thereon.

The year under review was remarkable for the rainfall which is said to have been the heaviest on record since the plantation was started thirty-six years ago. It did considerable damage to the plantation, the loss being estimated at nearly Rs. 6,000, exclusive of the damage done to the roads leading from the plantation to Darjeeling and other places. The continuous wet weather was also unfavourable to the growth of cinchona. The number of trees up-rooted at the plantation for their bark was 195,860 against 469,440 in the previous year, while 223,981 young trees were planted out. The result of the year's operations was that the total number of living cinchona plants at the Government plantations (excluding the nursery stock which amounted to 146,080) at the close of the year was 2,207,366. A portion of the Dumsong Forest block has been converted into a cinchona reserve and a suitable spot has been selected to commence operations. This extension will be distinguished by the title of the Munsong Division of the plantation.

2. The crop of the year amounted to 208,652 lbs. of dry bark, all of which was obtained from the trees up rooted at the Government plantations. The bulk of the bark was of the quinine-producing sort; and, with the exception of 806lbs. supplied to medical depôts and sold to Government officers and to the public, was as usual made over to the cinchona factory for manufacture into quinine and febrifuge. In addition to this quantity, 153,739lbs. of bark were purchased at a total cost of Rs. 50,000.

3. The outturn of the factory was 8,799lbs. of sulphate of quinine and 4,046lbs. of cinchona febrifuge against 10,335lbs. and 3,921lbs., respectively, in 1898-99. The following statement compares the issues of the year with those of the preceding year:—

The foregoing figures show a diminished demand for quinine on the part of the Medical Depôt at Mian Mir, and from Government Officers and dispensaries, the latter being explained by the absence of demands from Bombay, the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, Burma, and some Native States which now obtain their supplies from the Madras Factory. On the other hand there was a larger demand from the Calcutta Medical Depôt and from the Jail Department for the manufacture of pice-packets. The stock of sulphate of quinine in hand at the close of the year was greater by 1,074lbs. than at the close of the year 1898-99.

4 The following statement compares the receipts from the sale of sulphate of quinine, cinchona febrifuge, cinchona bark, and other products of the plantation during the last two years:—

5. The expenditure on the plantation amounted to Rs. 62,804 against Rs. 58,472 in the previous year, the increase being chiefly due to the sum of Rs. 3,046 spent on the new division at Munsong. The amount spent on account of the factory rose from Rs. 65,467 to Rs. 92,361, the increase being chiefly due to larger purchases of bark.

6. The surplus on the year's working, after providing for the expenditure of Rs. 3,046 on the newly opened extension of the plantation at Munsong, and in spite of the considerably decreased issues of sulphate of quinine during the year, amount to Rs. 4,106.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor again desires to thank Major Prain, and also Mr. R. Pantling, the Deputy Superintendent of the Cinchona Plantations, for their careful management of the plantation and factory during the year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. N. BAKER,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 166, dated Narcoldanga, the 28th June 1900.

From—Babu Apurva Chunder Biswas, Vice-Chairman of the Maniktala Municipality,

To—The Magistrate of the 24-Parganas.

With reference to your circular memorandum No. 79M., dated the 26th June 1900, forwarding copy of Divisional Commissioner's letter No. 131M. of the 23rd instant, calling for a Report on the working of the Bengal Jute Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act for the year 1899-1900, I have the honour to submit as follows :—

1. The Fire Brigade Budget for the year under report was prepared by the Commissioner of Police under section 26 (1) of Act I (B.C.) of 1893, and was accepted by the Commissioners of this Municipality at their general meeting held on the 26th August 1899, so far as it related to this municipality.

2. The proportionate share of contribution at one per cent. of the estimated amount of Rs. 69,953 towards the maintenance of the Fire Brigade establishment, viz., Rs. 699, was paid in two instalments. The total amount realised as fees from the warehouses under the Act was Rs 1,228-4-6 against Rs. 1,266-6-6 of the preceding year. The decrease was owing to a few shops and depôts of durmah mats and firewood having ceased to exist at the beginning of the year under report.

3. During the year under review, 10 licenses were issued for the jute ware-houses and 62 for other descriptions of trades in inflammable materials, such as firewood, hay, straw, saw-mill, packing-cases, durmah mats, golpatta, &c., against 8 and 74 of the preceding year.

4. License-fees were levied at 6 per cent. per annum on the annual value of holdings as assessed for payment of municipal taxes on jute warehouses and at 10 per cent. on other descriptions of trade as mentioned above.

5. All the owners of warehouses paid their license-fees in due time, and therefore no prosecution was required to be instituted during the year.

6. The jute godowns and firewood depôts are mostly situated near the Circular Canal, which forms the western boundary of this municipality. There is only one mill for the manufacture of gunny bags within this municipality, named the Surah Jute Mill Company, Limited, on the north side of the Narcoldanga Main Road, and there are also four roperies.

7. No fire broke out during the year under report. But a fire broke out on the 7th of April 1900, at Meah Bazar, Beliaghata. There was no loss of life, though damage was done to the extent of about Rs. 500. No assistance of the Fire Brigade was received during the fire The engine arrived on the spot too late to be of any service. The municipality requested the Commissioner of Police to keep a hand-pump at the Sealdah outpost, but the Commissioner in reply wrote that there being always a hand-pump at Palmer's Bridge, no other hand-pump was necessary.

No. 86G.M., dated Garden Reach, the 28th June 1900.

From—W. GRAHAM, Esq., Chairman of the Garden Reach Municipality,
To—The Magistrate of the 24-Parganas.

WITH reference to your circular memorandum No. 79M., of the 26th instant, I have the honour to report that a sum of Rs. 350 was paid to the Commissioner of Police during 1899-1900 as contribution to the Calcutta Fire Brigade Fund. This was the amount actually demanded by the Commissioner of Police as per his budget estimate of the Metropolitan Fire Brigade for the year ending 31st March 1900. The Commissioners could not levy a special rate to meet this small amount. A sum of Rs 247 only was received under the head "Jute warehouse fees," and the balance, viz, Rs. 103, was paid out of the general fund.

2. There was no fire during the year under report. But in the previous year there was fire in the three bustees, viz., Kapidanga, Buttiolla and Circular Garden Reach, and the Calcutta Fire Brigade rendered material help, although they were not paid.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·6 higher; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew Standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

(c) If the suit appears from the statement in the plaint to be barred by any positive rule of law.

24. The rejection of a plaint on any of the grounds hereinbefore mentioned shall not of its own force preclude the plaintiff from filing a fresh plaint in respect of the same cause of action.

Summons.

25. The Clerk of the Court, or other officers whom the Chief Judge may, from time to time, appoint in that behalf, shall, on receipt of the proper fees, issue a summons directed to each defendant.

26. The summons to a defendant shall be issued and dated as of the day on which the plaint was filed. It shall require the defendant or defendants to enter an appearance before the Registrar within a time to be therein mentioned. It shall also state—

(a) In suits for liquidated demands, or for damages, that a decree may be recorded by default, without further notice, against every defendant served with the summons who shall not enter an appearance.

(b) In all cases, except as provided in (a) that the suit will be set down for hearing against every defendant who shall not enter an appearance.

(c) That each defendant when he enters an appearance will be furnished with a certificate of appearance, on which shall be mentioned the Bench before which the case will be heard as against him, and the day on which the case will appear in the list of causes for hearing in its turn before such Bench.

27. The time to be allowed a defendant to enter appearance after the service of summons upon him shall be regulated in the following manner, but a shorter or longer period may, if required by circumstances, be allowed at the discretion of the Registrar:—

(a) If a defendant resides or carries on business in Calcutta or within the extended limits included in the definition of "Calcutta" in the third section of Act II of 1888 of the Bengal Council or within the limits of the Howrah Municipality, the summons shall be served upon him at least 10 days before the last day for entering appearance.

(c) If a defendant resides or carries on business beyond 100 miles from Calcutta within the districts of Backergunge, Birbhum, Bhagalpur, Dacca, Burdwan, Bankura, Faridpur, Gaya, Hazaribagh, Jessore, Malda, Midnapore, Monghyr, Murshidabad, Mymensingh, Nadia, Patna, Pabna, Purnea, Rajshahi, Saran, Shahabad, Tirhut or within 10 miles from any Railway Station in the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, or Oudh, or of the Delhi Station of the East Indian Railway, the summons shall be served upon him at least 18 days before the last day for entering appearance.

(d) If a defendant resides or carries on business beyond 100 miles from Calcutta in any district subject to the Appellate Jurisdiction of the High Court other than those before mentioned, or at any place more than 10 miles distant from any Railway Station in the North-Western Provinces, Central Provinces, or Oudh, or within the limits of the Presidency Towns of Madras or Bombay, the summons shall be served upon him at least 18 days before the last day for entering appearance.

(e) If a defendant resides elsewhere than is before mentioned within the dominions of Her Majesty in India, the summons shall be served upon him at least 45 days before the last day for entering appearance.

28 In fixing the last day for entering appearance, sufficient time shall be allowed for the due service of the summons, which shall ordinarily be the same number of days from the date of the summons as are allowed to the defendant under the preceding rule for entering appearance

If the suit is instituted against more defendants than one, the last day for entering appearance shall be be same for all the defendants, and will ordinarily be so many days after the date of the summons as are equal to twice the greatest number of days allowed under the preceding rule to any of the defendants in the suit for entering appearance.

29. The summons to a defendant shall be served by delivering or tendering it to him personally if possible, or to his recognised agent as defined in section 37 or 41 of the Code as extended to this Court or to an adult male member of the family actually residing with him at the time. or to his landlord if they both reside in the same house, or to a clerk or assistant employed in a business carried on by him or in which he is a partner.

30. If the defendant or other person to whom, under the last preceding rule, a summons may be delivered or tendered cannot be found, the serving officer shall affix the summons on the outer door of the house in which the defendant is then actually residing or carrying on business.

31. A summons may be served on any person who shall be living or serving on board any ship, vessel or boat; and if the same cannot be served personally, it may be served by delivering it to the senior officer on board, or to the person who for the time being may have charge of such ship, vessel or boat.

32. When a summons or process is to be served on a pilot or preventive officer employed on actual service, it may be sent to the head of the office in which such pilot or preventive officer is employed for the purpose of being served upon him.

33. A summons to be served under section 89 of the Code shall be by registered letter.

34. When a summons cannot be served in accordance with the directions contained in the foregoing rules, the Registrar may extend the time for service, or order service, or substituted service, in such manner as to him may seem fit.

35. All acts which may be done by the Court under sections 82, 83, 84 and 85 of the Code as extended may be also done by the Registrar, and service of summons as may be ordered by him shall be as effectual as if the same had been ordered by the Court

36. When a summons, process, or warrant is to be served or executed, the person requiring such service, or some one on his behalf, shall accompany the bailiff or serving officer to point out the person on whom and the place where such summons, process, or warrant is to be served or executed.

37. Service of the summons on every defendant who has failed to enter an appearance shall be proved by affidavit or otherwise to the satisfaction of the Registrar. This shall be done as follows: A special daily list shall be prepared for the Registrar under the heading "Summonses." The next day after the last day for entering an appearance, the case shall be entered in the special list for enquiry as to the service of the summons At such enquiry, which may, if necessary, be adjourned from time to time, affidavits or further affidavits may be received, or evidence taken viva voce. The Registrar, on being satisfied as to the due service of the summons, shall cause the case to be set down for hearing as provided in rule 56, or be dealt with as provided in rules 60 and 61.

Such enquiry may be held at the instance of the plaintiff at any time during the first three days after the last day for entering appearance; but at 11 A.M. on the 4th Court day after the last day for entering appearance, all cases remaining in the special list of the day next after the last day for entering appearance shall be taken up by the Registrar in their turn; and if the summons against any defendant is not found to be duly served and no application is made for a further summons, the suit shall be dismissed as against such defendant.

38. If on enquiry under rule 37 it shall not be proved that the summons has been duly served, a further summons shall be issued by the Registrar, but the costs of obtaining such summons shall not be allowed as costs in the cause, unless so ordered by the Registrar, on being satisfied that a bonâ fide endeavour has been made on the part of the plaintiff to serve the previous writ.

39. If on enquiry under rule 37 it be found that the summons has not been served upon the defendant in consequence of the failure of the plaintiff to pay the court-fee leviable for such service, the Registrar may order that the suit be dismissed: Provided that no such order shall be passed if on the day fixed for the enquiry the defendant attends in person or by pleader or recognised agent and enters an appearance.

Appearance.

40. An infant can only enter an appearance by his guardian ad litem. This rule will apply to a person of unsound mind not so found by inquisition.

41. A defendant in a case in which a decree by default may be recorded against him may enter an appearance at any time before such a decree has been recorded against him.

42. In cases not otherwise provided for, a defendant may, with the permission of the Court, enter an appearance after the time allowed to him for that purpose. If he allows the case to proceed to a hearing without entering an appearance, he may at the hearing cross-examine the plaintiff's witnesses and address the Court; but unless the Court otherwise orders, evidence will not be received on his behalf: Provided that an infant or a person under disability will not be precluded from defending a suit in the ordinary course.

43. The mode of entering an appearance shall be by a memorandum written on a form to be provided by the Court and dated on the day on which it is delivered. It shall contain the name of the defendant's pleader, with the address of his place of business; or shall state that the defendant defends in person, in which case his own address, at which processes may be served, shall be given.

44. The memorandum of appearance shall be in the following form with such variations as circumstances may require:—

Service of Process.

46. All notices and orders required to be given to or served on any person shall be in writing and shall be served in the manner provided in these rules for the service of summons.

Set-off.

49. When a defendant is desirous of setting off any sum under section 111 of the Code, he shall immediately after entering an appearance, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court, file in Court the particulars of such set-off and furnish the plaintiff with a copy thereof.

Witnesses.

50. Every summons to a person to give evidence or produce a document shall be served as nearly as may be in the manner hereinbefore prescribed for the service of summons on a defendant.

51. The scale in Schedule B annexed to these rules shall be the scale of expenses ordinarily allowed to witnesses under section 160 of the Code: Provided that, when a witness is an agent or servant of the party requiring his attendance, no such expenses shall be allowed. In cases not provided for in the scale, the Court will exercise its discretion in allowing the expenses of the witness.

52. A witness shall, before he is sworn or solemnly affirmed, be entitled to be paid his expenses, if they have not been previously paid. If a witness attend in one matter only, he will be entitled to the full allowance. If he attend in more than one matter on the same day, he will be entitled to such proportionate part in each matter as the Court may direct.

53. When a tender of expenses is made at the time of service, a sum not less than the minimum rate allowed by the scale for the particular class of witness shall be tendered to him. In the event of any question arising as to the amount of the tender, the Court shall decide the same at the hearing of the matter in respect of which the witness is required to attend.

54. A witness residing out of Calcutta will be entitled to all travelling expenses reasonably and actually expended by him, or likely to be expended by him, and will also, if detained in Calcutta, be allowed such a sum for subsistence-money and carriage hire as the Court, having regard to the scale of expenses, may consider reasonable.

55. The expenses of a commission to examine witnesses shall, in the first instance, be defrayed by the party taking out the commission.

Suits to be set down for hearing.

56. Except as provided in rules 60 and 61, and unless otherwise ordered, every cause in which no appearance has been entered shall, after proof of service of summons before the Registrar, forthwith be sent up to a Judge for hearing, or if the plaintiff so requires, be set down for hearing before a Judge at such time as the Registrar may appoint; and every cause in which appearance has been entered and there is only one defendant shall be set down for hearing before a Judge on the 4th Court day after the last day for entering appearance; and every cause in which appearance has been entered and there are more defendants than one shall, after proof of the service of summons on the defendants (if any) who fail to enter appearance, be set down for hearing before a Judge on the 8th Court day after the last day for entering appearance: Provided always that, if required by circumstances, the Registrar may, at his discretion, set any cause down for hearing on any other day.

List of defended causes.

57. Unless otherwise ordered, each case on the list of a Judge shall be taken in its turn, and shall, whether the pleaders or other legal practitioners be present or not, be heard de die in diem until disposed of.

58. A case that has come before a Judge can only be postponed by such Judge, or the Bench representing such Judge, on sufficient cause being shown. Except as aforesaid, a case, not in the list for the day, may, on a requisition signed by all the parties or their agents or pleaders, be postponed by the Registrar.

59. The Registrar may, in any case not in the list for the day, enter a compromise, make a consent decree, or allow a suit to be withdrawn, and may grant leave to bring a fresh suit for the same cause of action.

Suits for liquidated demands.

60. Decree by default.—In a suit for a liquidated demand, the Registrar shall, after the time allowed for entering an appearance, subject to rule 62, record a decree by default against the defendant, or where there are several defendants, against every defendant served with the writ or summons who has failed to enter an appearance, and the plaintiff may obtain execution against every such defendant, without prejudice to his right to proceed with the action against every other defendant.

Suits for damages.

61. In a suit for damages in which the summons has been served on the defendant, or on every defendant, if there be more than one, and no appearance has been entered, the Registrar shall, after the time allowed for entering an appearance, subject to rule 62, proceed to assess the damages in such manner as he may think fit, and shall record a decree for the amount.

62. Rules 60 and 61 shall not apply to an infant or to a person of unsound mind not so found by inquisition.

63. After a decree has been recorded by default, the Court may, under special circumstances, set aside the decree, and, if necessary, stay or set aside execution, and may give leave to enter an appearance and defend the suit if it seems reasonable to the Court so to do, and on such terms as the Court thinks fit.

Other suits.

64. If when a case is called on for hearing and neither party appears, the suit shall be dismissed, unless the Judge otherwise directs.

65. When a suit is dismissed under the last preceding rule, the plaintiff may [subject to the law of limitation] bring a fresh suit; or if, within the period of thirty days from the date of the order dismissing the suit, he satisfies the Court that there was sufficient excuse for his not paying the Court-fee required within the time allowed for the service of the summons, or for his non-appearance, as the case may be, the Court shall pass an order to set aside the dismissal and restore the suit to the list of defended causes for hearing.

66. Except as provided in rules 60 and 61, if when a suit is called on for hearing the plaintiff appears and the defendant does not appear, the Court may proceed ex-parte.

67. If when a suit is called on for hearing the defendant appears and the plaintiff does not appear, the Court shall dismiss the suit, unless the defendant admits the claim, or part thereof, in which case the Court shall pass a decree against the defendant upon such admission, and where part of the claim has been admitted, shall dismiss the suit so far as it relates to the remainder.

68. When a suit is wholly or partially dismissed, the plaintiff shall be precluded from bringing a fresh suit in respect of the same cause of action. But he may apply for an order to set the dismissal aside; and if it be proved that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall set aside the dismissal, upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

No such order shall be made unless the plaintiff has served the defendant with notice in writing of his application.

69. Except as provided in rules 60 and 61, when a suit, in which there are more defendants than one is called on for hearing, and one or more of the defendants appear and the others do not appear, the suit shall proceed, and the Court shall, at the time of passing judgment, make such order as it thinks fit with respect to the defendants who do not appear.

70. In any case [not being a case to which rule 63 is applicable] in which a decree is passed ex-parte against a defendant, he may apply to the Court by which the decree was made for an order to set it aside; and if he satisfies the Court that the summons was not duly served, or that he was prevented by any sufficient cause from appearing when the suit was called on for hearing, the Court shall pass an order to set aside the decree upon such terms as to costs, payment into Court or otherwise as it thinks fit, and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

71. If, on any day to which the hearing of a suit is adjourned, the parties or any of them fail to appear, the Court may proceed to dispose of the suit in one of the modes hereinbefore directed, or otherwise, as it thinks fit.

Compromise and Decree.

72. Every suit or proceeding in the list of a Judge for the day settled by agreement of the parties shall be reported in open Court to the Clerk of the Bench before which the suit or proceeding is pending, or to the Bench.

73. When the Court directs that any decree shall be paid by instalments, such instalments shall, in the absence of any direction to the contrary, be paid into Court monthly, and, in default of payment of any one instalment, the whole decree or the balance thereof shall become due.

74. A decree against an executor, or administrator, or a legal representative, shall be that the decree be levied out of the property of the deceased in the hands of such executor, administrator, or legal representative; provided that the plaintiff may apply to the Court that the decree may be executed against the defendant in person and not in his representative capacity, and the Court may, if it is satisfied that the defendant has misapplied the property of the deceased come to his hands and improperly withheld payment, make an order that the decree or any portion thereof may be executed against the defendant in person and not in his representative capacity.

Execution.

75. Every application for executing a decree or ordinary process of the Court shall be on a form to be provided by the Court and shall be presented to the Clerk of the Court.

76. The Court or the Registrar may, upon the ex-parte application of any person who has obtained a decree or order for the recovery or payment of money, either before or after any oral examination of the debtor liable under such decree or order, and upon affidavit by himself or his pleader or recognised agent stating that a decree or order has been made, and that it is still unsatisfied, and to what amount, and that any other person is indebted to such debtor and is within the jurisdiction, order that all debts owing or accruing from such third person (hereinafter called the garnishee) to such debtor shall be attached to answer the decree or order; and by the same or any subsequent order it may be ordered that the garnishee shall appear before the Court or the Registrar to show cause why he should not pay to the person who has obtained such decree or order the debt due from him to such debtor, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree or order.

77. Service of an order that debts due or accruing to a debtor liable under the decree or order shall be attached, or notice thereof to the garnishee, in such manner as the Court or the Registrar shall direct, shall bind such debts in his hands.

78. If the garnishee does not forthwith pay into Court the amount due from him to the debtor liable under a decree or order, or an amount equal to the amount payable under the decree or order, and does not dispute the debt due or claimed to be due from him to such debtor, or if he does not appear upon summons, then the Court, or the Registrar, may order execution to issue, and it may issue accordingly, without any previous writ or process, to levy the amount due from such garnishee, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy the decree or order.

79. If the garnishee disputes his liability, the Court or the Registrar, instead of making an order that execution shall issue, may order that any issue or question necessary for determining his liability be tried or determined in any manner in which any issue or question in an action may be tried or determined.

80. Whenever in proceedings to obtain an attachment of debts it is suggested by the garnishee that the debt sought to be attached belongs to some third person, or that any third person has a lien, or charge upon it, the Court or the Registrar may order such third person to appear, and state the nature and particulars of his claim upon such debt.

81. After hearing the allegations of any third person under such order, as in rule 80 mentioned, and of any other person whom by the same or any subsequent order the Court or the Registrar may order to appear, or in case of such third person not appearing when ordered, the Court or the Registrar may order execution to issue to levy the amount due from such garnishee, or any issue or question to be tried or determined according to the preceding rules relating to garnishees, and may bar the claim of such third person, or make such other order as such Court or the Registrar shall think fit, upon such terms in all cases, with respect to the lien or charge (if any) of such third person, and to costs, as the Court or the Registrar shall think just and reasonable.

82. Payment made by or execution levied upon the garnishee upon any such proceeding as aforesaid shall be a valid discharge to him as against the debtor liable under a decree or order, to the amount paid or levied, although such proceeding may be set aside, or the decree or order reversed.

83. There shall be kept by the proper officer a debt attachment book, and in such book entries shall be made of the attachment and proceedings thereon, with names, dates, and statements of the amount recovered, and otherwise; and copies of any entries made therein may be taken by any person upon application to the proper officer and payment of a prescribed fee.

84. The costs of any application for an attachment of debts, and of any proceedings arising from or incidental to such application, shall be in the discretion of the Court or the Registrar.

85. A warrant issued under sections 250 and 251 of the Code shall be returnable within one month from the date thereof.

Applications generally.

86. Every application (not being an application for execution) required by the Act or the extended portions of the Code, or by the next following rules, to be in writing, must contain—

(a) the name of the plaintiff,
(b) the name of the defendant,
(c) the relief or order applied for,

It must be signed by the applicant or his recognised agent and his pleader, if any, and, unless in these rules otherwise provided, must be verified in the same manner as a plaint. 87. In making an application the applicant must be prepared with all necessary evidence for helping the Court to a proper determination of the matter.

88. On receiving an application the Court shall (if necessary) fix a day for hearing the same.

89. When an application has been received, and it is necessary to give notice to any person interested, a copy of the application to be furnished by the applicant, together with notice of the date fixed for its hearing, shall be served on such person in the same manner as a summons.

90. The following applications shall be in writing:—

(c) Under rules 63, 65, 68 and 70.

91. An application under section 18 of the Act for leave to institute a suit shall, in addition to the particulars specified in rule 86, contain—

(a) the residence of the plaintiff, or where he carries on business, or works for gain;

(b) the residence of the defendant, or where he carries on business;

(c) the cause of action, or whether it arose wholly or in part within the jurisdiction.

Application for new trial or to set aside a dismissal or decree.

92. Every application under rules 63, 65, 68 or 70, or under section 38 of the Act, shall, when presented to the Court, be accompanied with a copy of such application, and such copy shall be served through the Court, or through some other Court, on the party as against whom the application is made, and ordinarily at least four clear days before the date fixed for hearing the application. Such service shall be made in the same manner as the service of summons. An application under section 38 of the Act need not be verified.

In very such application the grounds shall be fully and distinctly set out, and the applicant shall at the hearing be restricted to the grounds contained in his application.

93. Every application under section 38 of the Act shall, when the applicant has appeared at the original hearing by advocate or pleader, ordinarily be supported by a certificate of such advocate or pleader that in his opinion there are good grounds for the application.

94. The Court may, at any time after any application mentioned in rule 92 is presented to the Court, put the parties on such terms as to furnishing security for costs, or for the amount of the claim and costs by payment into Court or otherwise, as it shall think fit.

95. Every application under section 38 of the Act shall be heard before two Judges at least, one of whom shall be the Judge who tried the matter in respect of which the application is made, and the other the Chief Judge. If the matter in respect of which the application is made was heard by the Chief Judge, one of more Judges shall sit with him to hear the application. The Chief Judge, or, in his absence the senior Judge, may, under special circumstances, direct that any Judges other than those specified may hear any application under section 38 of the Act.

96. When a claim is preferred or objection made under section 278 or 487 of the Code or section 61 of the Act in respect of any property attached or seized, or in respect of the proceeds or value thereof, the claimant or objector shall file a plaint in which the claimant or objector shall be the plaintiff and the execution creditor, or the person who obtained the warrant, the defendant, and the matter shall then be treated as a suit.

97. Such plaint shall contain a statement of the particulars of the property claimed or of the objection made, and of the grounds of the claim or objection.

98. When such a plaint has been filed, the sale of the property attached or seized shall be postponed pending the result of the suit. If the property has been sold and the money is in Court, the same shall be detained pending such result.

99. A complaint under section 328 of the Code shall be in writing and shall contain particulars of the obstruction complained of. It shall be in the form of an application and be treated as such, but shall be verified by the decree holder or some person who on his behalf has accompanied the officer entrusted with the execution of the warrant, and is acquainted with the facts of the complaint.

100. Application under section 41 of the Act shall be in the form of a plaint in which the applicant shall be the plaintiff and the occupant the defendant, and the matter shall then be treated as a suit. Notice to shew cause against the application, appeal or reference shall be served upon the defendant in the same way as a summons, returnable upon a certain date before the Chief Judge, and the matter shall then be treated as a suit.

The said penalty or fine shall be paid by the Company on demand therefor being made by or on behalf of the Corporation, and in the event of non-payment thereof shall be recoverable in full from the Company. If the Engineer to the Corporation shall decide that any work or thing to be done or provided under this agreement is not to his satisfaction, and the Company shall take objection to such decision as being unreasonable, the question shall be referred to and settled by arbitration in the manner provided by the said Concession or Contract of the 2nd October, 1879.

Upon the expiry of the said notice the Company shall make over to the Corporation the entire tramways, plant, machinery, land, buildings, rolling-stock, stores and everything connected therewith. If the payment by the Corporation of the consideration for such purchase shall be delayed beyond the period of 30 days from the date of the expiration of the notice so to be given, the Corporation will pay to the Company interest on the amount of such consideration or such part thereof as shall be unpaid at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum from the date of the expiration of such notice, until payment, but in no event shall the said consideration be allowed to remain unpaid for more than six months from the date on which the same shall become due and payable. The provisions of this clause shall be in lieu of and not in addition to any power of purchase now vested in the Corporation under the said Concessions or Contracts of the 2nd October, 1879, and the 22nd November, 1879, or either of them, or the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, or otherwise.

6. The Company will, prior to the date of the expiration of the notice to be given by the Corporation under and pursuant to the last preceding clause, well and sufficiently repair to the satisfaction of the Engineer to the Corporation such of the said tramways and of the said plant, machinery, buildings, rolling-stock and other things or such portions thereof, respectively, as shall then be in need of repair, and will place or restore the same in or to a good and serviceable order and condition, and will so make over the same to the Corporation. If default shall be made by the Company in complying with the provisions of this clause, the Corporation shall for such default, and to the extent thereof, be entitled to a deduction from the consideration for the purchase of the said tramways, plant, machinery, land, buildings, rolling-stock, stores and premises of the Company as aforesaid, the fact whether such default has occurred and the amount of such deduction to be determined by arbitration in the manner provided in the said Concession or Contract of the 2nd October, 1879.

7. Until such date as the Company shall have completed the said system of electric traction in all respects to the satisfaction of the Engineer to the Corporation, the Company will pay to the Corporation track-rent at the rate at which the same is now paid or may be payable by the Company under the said Concessions or Contracts of the 2nd October, 1879, and the 22nd November, 1879, and the said agreement of the 2nd September, 1893. On and from the date on which the Company shall have completed the said system of electric traction in all respects to the satisfaction of the Engineer to the Corporation, and thereafter throughout the period which shall elapse until the tramways, plant, machinery, buildings, rolling-stock, stores and premises shall be purchased by the Corporation in exercise of the liberty accorded by clause 5, the Company will pay to the Corporation the fixed track-rent of Rs. 35,000 per annum in respect of all the now-existing tramways without exception, provided that, if the working by the Company of any now-existing tramway or any portion thereof shall with the previous sanction of the Corporation be hereafter discontinued, the Company shall be entitled to a proportionate reduction of the said fixed rent in respect of the tramway or portion thereof the working whereof shall be so discontinued.

8. As from the date on which the Company shall have completed the said system of electric traction, and throughout the period which shall elapse between such date and the date of the purchase by the Corporation of the property of the Company in manner hereinbefore provided, the Company shall on all tramways the subject of this agreement provide and maintain such a full and proper daily service of tram cars running in both directions as shall in the opinion of the Chairman of the Corporation be sufficient for the requirements and convenience of the public.

9. If the Company shall in any respect fail to maintain a fit and proper daily service of tram-cars to the satisfaction of the Chairman of the Corporation, or shall in any respect fail to maintain the tramways in good and efficient order or the tram-cars in efficient condition to the satisfaction of the Engineer of the Corporation, the Chairman or the Engineer, as the case may be, shall give notice to the Company to make good any default by a date to be named in such notice, and should the Company take objection to such notice as being in any respect unreasonable the matter in question shall be referred to arbitration in the manner provided in the said Concession or Contract of the 2nd October, 1879, and the arbitrators or their umpire shall by their or his award be empowered to direct the Company to do all works and things necessary to keep the tramways in good and efficient order or to maintain a fit and proper daily service of tram-cars or to maintain the cars in efficient condition, as the case may be, and the Company shall forthwith comply with the direction in such award within such period as shall be named therein, and, from the date of the submission to such arbitration or the date that may be fixed by the Engineer, if his decision is accepted, the Company shall, until they shall have complied with such notice or direction, be liable to pay and on demand by the Corporation shall pay the full track-rent provided for in the said Concession or Contract of the 2nd October, 1879, and shall forfeit all right to or benefit of any modification of such rent during such period.

10. And it is expressly agreed and declared that, subject to the sanction and authorization of this Agreement by an Act of the Bengal Legislative Council, the said Concessions or Contracts of the 2nd October, 1879, and the 22nd November, 1879, respectively, and the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, Act III (B.C.) of 1894 and the Agreement of the 2nd September, 1893, shall be read and construed as extended and varied or modified by this agreement.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

TRAFFIC IN GIRLS.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE repeated his question of 21st July last:—

"Has the attention of the Government been called to a statement which has appeared in the newspapers to the effect that an extensive traffic in girls for immoral purposes is being carried on at Bankipore and other important towns in Bihar, and that a regular organisation is maintained for the purpose? If so, will the Government be pleased to state what steps it has taken or proposes to take for the suppression of the traffic and the organisation which supports it?"

The Hon'ble MR. BOURDILLON in continuation of his previous answer replied:—

"The Commissioner of Patna has laid before Government all the facts available in regard to the alleged traffic in girls for immoral purposes. The matter has been receiving the attention of the local officers for some time. Since the beginning of the year 1898 altogether six cases have occurred in which girls have been kidnapped or enticed from their homes. In only one of these was prostitution the motive—in another, it was robbery—in the four remaining cases, the girls were of low caste and they were passed off as high caste girls and married to respectable and well-to-do husbands. A conviction has been obtained in one case, and three are pending. The police are on the track of two gangs who appear to practice this kind of fraud."

THE MUNDA RIOTS.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE asked:—

"(a) Is it a fact that the proceedings under section 107, Criminal Procedure Code, against the Mundas have been dropped?

"(b) If so, how many months were the Mundas imprisoned under proceedings taken under that section?

"(c) During the imprisonment of the Mundas, how many of them died in jail?

"(d) Is there any truth in the statements which have appeared in the newspapers to the effect that many of the Mundas have been arrested again on fresh charges?

"(e) If they have been arrested on fresh charges, will the Government be pleased to enquire and state why these charges had not been brought against them until they had been in jail for nearly five months?"

The Hon'ble MR. BOURDILLON replied:—

"(a) Proceedings against some of the Mundas under section 107 of the Criminal Procedure Code have been dropped; other Mundas have been bound down under that section.

"(b) The period of imprisonment varied, as the Mundas were arrested and discharged on various dates; detailed information is not at present available.

"(c) Thirteen Mundas have died in jail.

"(d) and (e) The Government has not been informed that discharged Mundas have been re-arrested."

THE CALCUTTA TRAMWAYS (ELECTRIC TRACTION) BILL, 1900.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER moved that the clauses of the Bill to give effect to an agreement made on the 9th December, 1899, between the Corporation of Calcutta and the Calcutta Tramways Company, Limited, be considered for settlement. He said:—

"I need only make one observation in moving this motion, and that is with reference to the point raised by the Hon'ble Babu Boikanta Nath Sen at the last meeting of Council. The Hon'ble Member then drew attention to the provisions of clauses 1 and 2 of the agreement between the Tramways Company and the Calcutta Corporation, under which the lines of the tramways were required to be altered and re-constructed so as to adapt them for the purpose of electric-traction. He said that it might be argued that, in consequence of such alteration and re-construction, the new re-constructed lines would not constitute a tramway constructed under Act I of 1880, and therefore the provisions of the Act of 1880, relating to the levying of fares, would not be applicable to the new lines of tramway. Well, Sir, I discussed the matter with the Hon'ble Member after Council last Saturday, and arranged to refer the matter for the opinion of the learned Advocate-General. I have done this, and I will read to you the opinion which the Advocate-General has given. The Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe says:—

'The substitution of rails suitable for electric-traction for rails suitable to horse-power traction on the existing gauge does not appear to me to render the tramways so altered tramways to which the provisions of Act I of 1880 are inapplicable, seeing that by section 7 of that Act it is provided that the tram-cars on the lines of the tramways shall be worked with such power, animal or mechanical, as the grantees may think suitable. In my opinion that section permits and authorises the adoption and use of electricity as a motive power.'

"In other words, the Hon'ble Advocate-General advises that the danger which the Hon'ble Babu Boikanta Nath Sen suggested is not a real one, and therefore it is not necessary to consider it further."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER also moved that the following words be added at the end of section 2 of the Bill, namely:—

'And the concessions or contracts, dated respectively the 2nd October, 1879, and the 22nd November, 1879, and the agreement of the 2nd September, 1893, in such agreement mentioned, and the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, and the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1894, shall, so far as may be necessary to validate and give effect to such agreement, be extended, varied or modified.'

He said:—"The amendment which stands in my name was not in the hands of Hon'ble Members until Thursday last instead of being delivered to them on Wednesday, as required by Rules 21 and 22 of the Rules of Business. Therefore I beg to ask Your Honour's permission to be allowed to move this amendment now."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT:—"You are permitted."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER continued:—"This amendment is moved with reference to a point taken by the Hon'ble the Raja of Nashipur. He came to see me on Saturday last, and on the following day sent me a letter, in which he drew attention to the fact that the purchase clauses in the new agreement are not in consonance with section 30 of the old Act of 1880. Section 30 provides that the purchase money shall be 140 per cent. of the invested capital of the Company, whereas by the new agreement these provisions are entirely done away with and a fresh set of purchase clauses are introduced. The Hon'ble Raja doubted whether there would not be some inconvenience unless the terms of the agreement were made consistent with the express provisions of the Act of 1880.

"It seemed to me that there might be something in this, and I referred the matter to the Hon'ble Advocate-General, who advises that possibly it is not really necessary to make this change, but thinks, to be on the safe side and in view of any possible misapprehension, that it would be advisable to add a few words to section 2 of the Bill in order to make the matter perfectly clear. I will read the opinion given by the Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe:—

'Possibly an Act sanctioning and authorising an agreement, either modifying, varying, or extending other agreements sanctioned and authorised by other Acts, or inconsistent with such other Acts, might be held by implication to modify, vary or extend such other agreements and Acts.'

"But I think it safer to avoid this somewhat difficult question by adding to section 2 of the Bill the following words:—

'And the concessions or contracts, dated respectively the 2nd October, 1879, and the 22nd November, 1879, and the agreement of the 2nd September, 1893, in such agreement mentioned, and the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1880, and the Calcutta Tramways Act, 1894, shall, so far as may be necessary to validate and give effect to such agreement, be extended, varied, or modified.'

"These are the words which form my amendment. It is of a purely formal and technical character, and makes no difference in the substance of the Bill. I imagine it covers also the object which the Hon'ble Raja of Nashipur has in the amendment, of which he himself has given notice."

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE said:—"When the Hon'ble Mr. Baker submitted this matter for my opinion, although not thinking it absolutely necessary that this clause should be put into this Bill, yet considering it in every respect desirable that there should be as little room for litigation and misunderstanding as to the Acts of the Legislature as possible, it seemed to me desirable that this section, which is the substance of the 10th clause of the agreement between the Corporation and the Company, should be inserted in express words into the Bill, which is before the Council. The effect of its insertion will be to remove all doubts and difficulties which might arise from the construction of that clause of the contract, by which the Corporation of Calcutta and the Calcutta Tramways Company purport to repeal and alter certain Acts, alterations which neither the Corporation nor the Tramways Company could of course of themselves by any convention effect for themselves.

"No doubt it would in all probability be held, that when that contract came before the Council and received the sanction of the Legislature, such legislative action would then do that which the Corporation and the Company purported to do. But by putting in this clause, all the questions surrounding this matter will be set at rest.

"I think it removes, also, if it were not already quite clear from a consideration of the 7th section of the old Act, that electricity may thereunder be substituted for horse power, the Hon'ble Babu Boikanta Nath Sen's objections. It seems to me also to possess this advantage, that it is not limited, as is the proposed amendment of the Hon'ble Raja of Nashipur, to one particular section, but extends to all the previous Acts and contracts, which are in any way inconsistent with the contract, which by the present Bill is proposed to be legalised."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble RAJA RANAJIT SINHA, BAHADUR, of Nashipur, said:—"As the amendment just carried will cover the amendment I proposed to bring forward, I beg to withdraw the following motion with Your Honour's permission:—

That the following section be inserted after section 2 of the Bill, namely:—

'3. It repeals section 30 of Bengal Act I of 1880.'"

The Hon'ble MR BAKER said:—"In consequence of the amendment which has just been carried, it is open to any Hon'ble Member under Rule 44 of the Rules of Business to object to the passing of the Bill at the present meeting of the Council, unless His Honour the President, in the exercise of his discretion, rules that the objection should not prevail. I am not aware whether any Hon'ble Member has any objection to the passing of the Bill at the present sitting: if not, I will proceed with the motion which stands in my name."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—"I might very reasonably have expected that if ever I am to be in agreement with the view of Government in respect of any subject of legislation, it would surely be in respect of this little Bill, the brief 2 or 3 sections of which seem to leave but little scope for disagreement. But my hon'ble friend has picked out a subject which is the one, within the whole range of municipal administration, in the discussion of which I have refused any further part, because I have deliberately formed the opinion that in treating with the Tramways Company on the footing on which they have proceeded, the Calcutta Corporation have passed the bounds of business-like consideration, and are roaming in the field of an improvident and shortsighted policy. It is to such a question that I am now called upon by my hon'ble friend to give my approval and sanction. My predicament becomes the more unhappy by reason of the Government having introduced the measure at the request of the Corporation, on whose nomination I am a member in this Council. The position that my hon'ble friend has created for me is a cruel one. I invoke the sympathy of my colleagues, and I seek their indulgence, because I feel that I cannot shirk the responsibility of my position. I submit that it cannot be gainsaid that, since I cannot agree to support the Bill, it becomes incumbent on me to state my reasons against it.

"I assume, Sir, that hon'ble members know the conditions under which we have, for so many years, suffered at the hands of the Tramways Company. That Company had barely commenced working, when the Chamber of Commerce complained formally of the state of their tracks and lines. Well, Sir, their own authorities had represented the track rent to be in all circumstances a fair rent, but by threats of stopping work, the Company caused the Corporation to weakly yield to them a remission of Rs. 15,000 annually. This was done in order that the tracks and lines should be kept in proper order. But their condition and the whole working of the concern steadily deteriorated, and went from bad to worse, and became such as was truly described to us as being 'scandalous,' when in 1896 we were approached with a view of obtaining a fresh concession. But the terms then asked for only would have intensified the worst evils of the existing agreement. And I acknowledge the valuable aid that was given to myself in my successful effort to reject the proposals, that were then made by my hon'ble friend Mr. Baker, who then was a member of the Corporation. Thereafter, on the proposal of my hon'ble friend, the whole question was re committed, but to a special Committee nominated by my hon'ble friend. One of the terms of reference was to the effect that the concession to be given should not be for more than 21 years. Well, Sir, this Committee, after very careful investigation, at many meetings, I think 12 in number, presented their report. The Committee included my hon'ble friends Mr. Baker, Babu Surendranath Banerjee, also Mr. Simmons and Babu Nolin Behari Sircar, whose names have been specially mentioned by my hon'ble friend Mr. Bright was the Chairman. There was a question raised that the terms were too stringent. I will read the concluding paragraph of the report on the point:—

'They [that is, the Special Committee] have, however, every confidence that, while the terms are no doubt stringent, they are not more so than the circumstances of the case necessitate, nor are they any more stringent than can be justly demanded.'

"In the progress of the proceedings, the Committee, at my instance, referred certain questions to the late Advocate-General Sir Charles Paul and my hon'ble and learned friend, our present Advocate-General, Mr. Woodroffe, for their joint opinion They supported me on every point that I had taken in my contention against the agreement originally proposed, and they went on and advised, with regard to the course to be taken by the Corporation, that proceedings should be pressed against the Company in accordance with their covenants, and if they were unable to perform them, to proceed to liquidation. This advice endorsed my own contention throughout. I was regarded as taking an extreme view on one side, while my hon'ble friend, the member in charge, was pressing the extreme view at the other end. The report was in the nature of a compromise between these views, and while I still maintained that the only course to be pursued, if we were to look to the interest of the public and not of the Company and the shareholders of the Company, was to require the Tramways Company to perform their part of the agreement with us, and failing performance on their part, to proceed to liquidation as advised by the eminent Counsel whose opinion we had sought, I was willing to abstain from further opposition and accept the report as a compromise. The terms recommended, however, were regarded as being the utmost which we could consider, and it was most distinctly and clearly understood that we could not make any further concessions beyond the terms which were then adopted. Now, Sir, the Corporation had been pressing their Executive for years past to insist on the Tramways Company to put their lines and tracks in order. In 1896 a formal resolution was arrived at to that effect by the Commissioners in meeting. A resolution to the same effect was repeated in the Special Committee before they made their report, and this resolution also was confirmed by a general meeting of the Commissioners. But action had, as always before, been neglected by the Executive. After the adoption of the report to which I have been referring, I went, not once or twice, but repeatedly to the Chairman to urge him to take action under this resolution, because I have felt convinced that, unless we brought home to the Directors of the Tramways Company that we were determined on firm action, they would never accept any of our demands seriously. And whenever I represented this to Mr. Bright, I was assured and re-assured, in the most positive manner, that casts of the tram lines had been taken which showed a wide difference from the standard required by law; that every preparation had been made to proceed against the Company without delay, if in their reply, which was due on the 6th of February, 1898, the Company did not accept our terms without qualification. In the meantime, I failed to induce the Chairman to move, and in fact the Chairman did not move actively as I had so much pressed him to do. The result was only what I had foreseen. The Tramways Company did not accept our insistence seriously and simply laughed at our terms. And in the most arrogant tone this Company, that had failed all along to keep their word to us, rejected our proposals and proposed counter-terms, demanding that they must have this and they must have that, and, amongst others, they demanded that they must have a concession of 42 years. On some very important points indeed, we had shaped our terms in agreement with their own Manager in Calcutta, Mr. Maples, who had attended our meeting as their representative and had personally concurred in the terms to which I am now referring, during our negotiations with him. Nevertheless the Directors, when our agreement had been embodied in our terms, repudiated Mr. Maples and rejected the terms to which he had agreed. In such circumstances, would you, Sir, not suppose that action would be taken in accordance with the advice of our constituted legal advisers? Not a bit of it! We at the moment were showing acute symptoms of the outbreak of the chronic disease from which our unhappy Municipality suffers; there was to be a change in the office of Chairman. Mr. Bright was meditating going on leave, and from early in February to the time he left in March or April, his own repeated assurances and all the determination so firmly expressed to take action dropped out of sight. In fact nothing was done by the time Mr. Greer came on the scene as our acting Chairman, and we had the experience, not for the first time, of the locum tenens in the office of the Chairman adopting a policy diametrically opposed to that of the permanent incumbent. No action was proceeded with in accordance with the advice of eminent Counsel, and although we had determined to offer certain terms which embodied the utmost limit of concession to the Tramways Company, beyond which we had come to an understanding not to go, and which terms I had abstained from opposing only on the footing that it was a compromise between views held within the Corporation, Mr. Greer came forward in support of a new set of terms, going beyond those we had decided not to go beyond, and shaped on the counter-proposals of the Tramways Company, but not going so far as their demands. These were, of course, said to be the final limit of our concession to the Tramways Company. Again my protests were disregarded and my opinion was laughed at as a preposterous and impracticable one, when I insisted that the Tramways Company would again reject our proposals, having obtained the measure of our capacity to yield, and that our only course, if we were to have regard for the public interest, was to enforce our rights by legal proceedings. It was expressly asserted against me that no legal proceedings could be taken against the Tramways Company. Well, the terms which were offered as the final concession possible were again rejected, and then it was discovered that legal proceedings, the idea of which was scouted when suggested by myself, were after all quite practicable, and were initiated with a great show of determination, but the determination all fizzled out in some way. I am unable to say exactly what happened, for I do not myself clearly know. I had given up the subject as hopelessly beyond redemption. I withdrew from any active participation in any further negotiations, and I had paid no attention to the agreement, which was arrived at subsequently, between the Corporation and the Tramways Company, beyond a general protest against it, until I received a copy of it, when it was circulated among the papers connected with this Bill before the Council. And now that I have studied the agreement I cannot find reason to congratulate the Corporation on the terms that have been made. The agreement is dated 9th December, 1899, and in a schedule I see set out the different streets in which the lines are to be completed by the 31st day of the same month, that is to say, within 22 days. I thought that I should like to see with what care and attention the Executive were entering upon the new agreement, and I have obtained particulars as to the length of lines remaining to be completed within 22 days. I find that there was still remaining 4,800 feet, and I say that it was physically impossible for the Tramways Company to complete their work in the term of their contract. Did not the Executive know that, and did they then deliberately enter into a contract without demur, although they were aware that the contract could not be performed in terms of the agreement? It is not here a question when the period is to expire at some distance of time, but here it is a fixed time that has almost arrived. Would my hon'ble friends who represent the Chamber of Commerce and the Trades' Association deliberately enter into an agreement under such circumstances and under such conditions, when it is clear that the party contracting to complete certain works by a certain date cannot possibly complete it within the specified time? The result to be expected, occurred. There were not less than 3,888 feet 10 inches still remaining to be completed when the due date of the completion arrived. I have dwelt on this point as one indicative of what I always expect in our dealing with the Tramways Company, and what has had influence on me throughout our negotiations with that Company. The Tramways Company are ready to make promises without regard to their performance of them, while our Executive will never seriously regard whatever the Company may be required to do under the express terms of their contract. This has been our experience in the past, and I suppose that this will be our experience to the end of the chapter. Therefore it is that my constant endeavour has been during our negotiations to make the penal clauses work automatically. In the present agreement there are penal clauses inserted, but I regard the paper on which they are transcribed as only waste paper. The information about the length of lines left incompleted I obtained from the Secretary to the Corporation, who has been good enough to supply me with copies of documents filed for record in his office. I asked at the same time for information as to whether there are any, and what, breaches of contract at the present date. It is the duty of the Engineer's Department to give me this information, and it is ominous of the manner in which that Department is conducted when, as the Secretary has written to me to say, it has given no information, though it is the Department which has the supervision of the tramways.

"Now, Sir, the subject of Tramways is governed in Great Britain by a statute that applies throughout the land. Every concession to be made comes within that law, which is fixed and cannot in its main particulars be changed at the solicitation of promoters or by the influence of individuals. There the limit of the concession is 21 years, when the local authorities may first exercise their option of purchase, and the terms of the law are such that the option is a real option,—an option, that is to say, which it is possible to exercise. The period fixed by the present agreement is 30 years. I have contended against the period as being excessive. But, Sir, I care not whether the period be 30 years, or 40 years, or 20 years, if the purchase clauses are of a nature to prevent the exercise of the powers of purchase. We all know that the tendency of the age is to destroy monopolies, but what has been done by this contract is to give a monopoly in perpetuity. In England the purchase clauses, which have been arrived at after full consideration, gives power to the local authorities to buy any working concern at what is termed the then value, that is to say, the full value of the Company's property at the time of purchase, less the wear and tear to which it has been subjected. And a moment's reflection will show that this is only fair. There has been much contention here that it is fair that the purchase clauses should be as if the Tramways Company were a Railway Company. But the difference is most marked, and those who have been so easily persuaded have not appreciated that while Railway Companys have their tracks and lines on their own lands, Tramways Companys carry on their business on soil that is not their own property, on land for which they have not been called upon to pay, and they have only a right of way with a limited monopoly to run their carriages with flange-wheels in the public streets. This contention is not my own. It is clearly defined on no less high authority than in judgments of the House of Lords. And the principle on which purchase clauses are based under the law of England is one which makes it possible for local authorities to acquire the property of a Tramway Company, if they desire to do so for any reason, and among other reasons if the Tramway Company is not giving satisfaction to the public. And now, in Calcutta, even after our experiences in the past, we have entered into an agreement which makes the Tramways Company masters of the situation. The terms of the purchase clauses are such that I do not anticipate that the Corporation will ever care to purchase the concern. As our experiences have been in the past, so will our experiences be in the future. The penal clauses will, in practice, be left unenforced. The covenants entered into by the Tramways Company will be disregarded by them, while our Municipal Executive will, in the future as in the past, easily permit them to do so. And we cannot overlook the fact that we now in the Twentieth Century actually are accepting overhead wires for our electric-traction. Almost daily the discoveries of science are showing marvellous results in electricity, and here, in Calcutta, we are agreeing to overhead wire as the traction for the tramways in Calcutta, to be fixed by law for 30 years, nominally, but in effect, as it seems to me, in perpetuity. I have been told that the Tramways Company will, of course, adopt such methods of traction as will be most advantageous for them. Well, the law fixes 30 years for them, and the law will have to be changed to permit of any change of system. And every change will mean an expenditure of money, and my contention all along has been that with the present Company it will be hopeless to expect any such outlay as will be required to keep them abreast of the times.

"Now, Sir, the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham supported the Hon'ble Mr. Baker in the further concessions that we were making, but he also lost his patience, and he has represented what I think is a right view with regard to the position of affairs. I will read what he said at a meeting of the Corporation:—

'The Hon'ble Mr. Oldham observed that he said, when discussing this matter six months ago, that he did not think a defaulting Company like this should be in a position to dictate terms to the Corporation. The cause of failure of the Company was well known, namely, that the Company was so overcapitalised that they had not a sufficient balance to do what they were bound to do. The rate-payers of the town were actually paying the profit of the Company without getting the conveniences they ought to expect from the Company.'

The Hon'ble Mr. BAKER:—"What is the date of that meeting?"

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR continued:—"The 27th of February, 1899. On my own part, from the first I have been willing to accede the most favourable terms, if only the Tramways Company would consent to an operation that is very well recognised in Company business: to reduce their capital and place their Company on a true business footing, so that their capital should represent the real value of their property, in order to avoid the risk of their concern being starved to pay their shareholders, with the resulting injury and prejudice to the public of Calcutta.

"In these circumstances, I think it should not be a matter of surprise that I feel great reluctance to commit myself to a contract with the Tramways Company.

"I regret most exceedingly to again find myself in disagreement with the Government. I long, with fervid desire, to give my support to a Government measure before my service in this Council determines. I regard, with concern, that the period over which my memory travels as a member of this august body is becoming long drawn out, while the period within which I can indulge in the pleasures of my fond hope of finding myself in agreement with the Government is becoming inexorably shortened. But still I do not despair. I live on in the ardent hope that the time will eventually come when I shall find my views in unison with those of Government. I can assure you, Sir, of a support as solid and consistent as that given by the phalanx, who steadily discomfit any attempt of opposition of any Government measure —if only, Sir, the Government would agree with my views! If the Government would only agree with my views, I believe that it would result to the advantage and benefit of those to be affected by the measure that may be proposed for our consideration. And I confess that I do not understand why the Government should not more frequently be in agreement with myself; for I feel sure that it will not be denied that the principles that guide me—if I may compare one in my humble and non-official position with the Government—are the same as those that guide the Government. I only insist that it is imperative that we should not ignore the past history of a subject, and that we should shape the policy and scope of a measure by the light of our past experience. I venture to say that the Government will acquiesce in the soundness of my principles But alas! it is in the application of these principles that we, in some mysterious way, diverge. Here is my hon'ble friend Mr. Baker: whenever I have approached him on any fresh subject, when there have been no influences or considerations which I have not shared with him, I have left him, after our most interesting discussions, delighted with myself. I have thought what an eminently sensible and reasonable person I am; for my hon'ble friend has been in complete accord with me. But, Sir, after we have separated, my hon'ble friend going his way, while I have continued in my own, and when the time has approached to give effect to our views, I have become aware that, instead of being at one in our views, we have, somehow, diverged, and my hon'ble friend knows that I have not departed from my views. So, in this particular question, I have believed that in my hon'ble friend I should find a sturdy and influential ally. Yet it was not to be! To my regret, and I fear to the prejudice of the public, I find, now, an agreement with the Tramways Company such as the one which is to have the sanction of this Legislature, on the motion of my hon'ble friend. All our lengthened and careful consideration of the question; all our time and labour, given with so much devotion to the public interest; all our conclusions as to what was imperatively required; all our expressions of firm determination that there should be no concessions beyond the terms that we have offered,—all, all, have gone by the board, and the Tramways Company, after all, are to have their own way, practically in every particular. I believe a grave mistake is being committed. I continue to hold the opinion that the Tramways Company are not strong enough, financially, to work their concern on true business lines and to the best advantage of the public I have no faith either in their conforming to their pledges, or in the Executive of the Municipality in enforcing them. These are the cardinal points on which my opposition has hinged. The position with reference to the Tramways Company has been well likened to Alice's lament in Alice through the looking glass: 'Jam to-morrow. Jam yesterday. But never Jam to-day.'"

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has referred to certain proceedings of the Calcutta Corporation and to certain irregularities or laches on the part of the Tramways Company which were perfectly unintelligible to me, because I was not conversant with these things, but to summarise the remarks, the Hon'ble Member has thought fit to make, the Calcutta Corporation has not done its duty in this matter and the Tramways Company too have not done their duty in the matter.

"That may be so; but, Sir, the question before the Council is simply whether a certain agreement, which has been come to between the Corporation and the Company, actually, as far as I understand, in the form in which it has been presented in this Bill, should receive legislative sanction or not."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—"I thought that I had made it clear that my statement was in the nature of a personal explanation and submitting to the Council my reasons for disapproving of the Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS continued:—"As the Hon'ble Mr. Baker very properly remarked, the position and function of this Council, as far as this particular Bill is concerned, is really the function of a Civil Court. It is the duty of the Corporation to see whether it had all that was necessary for the proper and satisfactory working of the system of electric-traction. The Corporation has been authorised, under Act I of 1880, to see to the comforts and convenience of the public, and the Corporation is in more than one sense the guardian of the interests of the public. As some Hon'ble Member remarked at the last meeting, (I do not remember whether it was the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill or the Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee,) the position of the Council was such that they should either accept the Bill in its entirety or reject it, but it was not for this Council either to alter the agreement already arrived at between the parties, or to see whether the parties to the contract fulfilled the terms of the contract. If the Tramways Company do not do their duty as required by the contract, or if the Corporation does not enforce the contract, the Council cannot be asked to see that the parties actually act in accordance with the terms of the contract This would be asking the Council to see to the working of the Act. The duties of the Council begin with taking a Bill into consideration and end with passing into law certain things which may be for the public interest. No doubt the Council for some reason or other, has, with regard to this Tramway Bill, elected to take this particular course. It will be noticed that under Act I of 1880 a certain agreement which was arrived at between the Corporation and the Company received legislative sanction. I think the reason for doing so was a very good one, because the parties were not ordinary parties, but the agreement was between the Calcutta Corporation and the Tramways Company, and this received legislative sanction under Act I of 1880. This Council was now giving similar sanction to a fresh agreement between the same parties, and I must confess that I could not understand from the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar's speech what he wants this Council to do."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—"I repeat it was only a matter of personal explanation. I do not say that the Council is to do anything in consequence of my personal explanation: I only gave my reasons, as being the member for the Corporation, why I am unable to give my approval to what I have consistently opposed for so many years."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"Then all that I can say is that these remarks would have come with greater propriety if addressed to the Calcutta Corporation."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE said:—"I find myself on this occasion in perfect agreement with the Government and in perfect disagreement with the Hon'ble Member who represents the Corporation. I must congratulate my hon'ble friend on the absolute consistency of his public character. As often as the affairs of the Tramways Company came up for consideration before the Corporation, I have found him very consistently opposed to all concessions to the Tramways Company, and I must say that the indictment he has brought forward to-day is substantial and well-founded. I quite agree with my hon'ble friend on my left that the Company do not deserve any concession: they have been neglectful of the concessions that we granted them in the past, and they have taken advantage of the supineness of the Corporation, and, I may add, of the Executive, who left the Tramways Company to do what they pleased. I have not the slightest hesitation in endorsing the indictment which the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar has brought against the Tramways Company, but all the same my earnest advice to the Council is to pass the Bill as laid on the table, and for the reason that we have nothing whatever to do with the controversy that has been going on between the Corporation and the Company. This controversy is entirely outside our scope, except so far as it affects the merits of the Bill before us. The Corporation found,—I speak now as a member of it at the time when the proceedings in connection with this matter took place, and the Committee appointed to look into this matter gave it their most anxious consideration,—that unless these concessions were made, the boon—I was going to say the inestimable boon—of electric traction would be indefinitely postponed. These were the best terms that it was possible for the Corporation to obtain; and as reasonable men they had to decide the question whether they should go on fighting the Tramways Company as they had been fighting them, or whether they would make these concessions so as to place within reach of the ratepayers of Calcutta this great boon of electric traction. They decided to follow the principle of letting bygones be bygones and giving the Tramways Company another opportunity, taking reasonable precautions to see that they will not be able to repeat what had previously occurred. I believe this agreement was accepted on that basis. I am certain—and I am confident the Council will agree with me—that this Bill provides reasonable precaution in that direction. I particularly desire to call your attention to clause 9—which provides for arbitration. You have no such provision in the Bills of the past. You were obliged to have recourse to Courts of Law for enforcing contracts, and this clause is introduced with a view to avoid the necessity of litigation. [The Hon'ble Babu BOIKANTA NATH SEN said:—"I think it is to be found in the old Act."] My hon'ble friend need not look it up. If there was such a clause in it, it was absolutely in-operative. I trust, however, that after all this controversy, after all this agitation, and after the stirring indictment of my hon'ble friend on my left, there will be no occasion for an appeal to a Court of Law, and that arbitration will meet the needs of the case. My hon'ble friend has been good enough to tell us—and he is a public man whose thorough honesty and integrity of purpose is well-known—that the explanation he has offered is personal, and that he has not voiced the views of the Corporation. The views of the Corporation are represented in this Bill, and the Corporation comes to you and asks you to accord to it legislative sanction. You cannot withhold that sanction, and I do not think that any case has been made out to stay your hands. The only thing left to us therefore is to pass this Bill into law and to place within the reach of the ratepayers of Calcutta the great boon of electric traction."

The Hon'ble BABU BOIKANTA NATH SEN said:—'I beg to make a few remarks in support of the amendment which has just been made to have this Bill passed. On the first occasion, when the Bill was introduced, I entertained some doubts as to the applicability of Act I of 1880 to the tramways now constructed or contemplated under the agreement in question, but the Hon'ble Advocate-General has given his opinion on the subject, and he considers that it is not absolutely necessary to make any provision for the applicability of Act I of 1880 to the new tramways, though this amendment has been moved in the Council. I have still some doubts, regarding which I consulted the Hon'ble Advocate-General this morning, and that was with regard to the provisions under section 9 of Act I of 1880, where the privilege of fixing rates has been given to the grantees. That section 9 purports to be a reproduction of clause 9 of the agreement of 1879. In that clause occur the words 'grantees or their assigns,' but in the body of the Act the words 'or their assigns' have been omitted, whether by inadvertence or intentionally I am not in a position to say. I consulted the Hon'ble Advocate-General upon this point, but he tells me that there is not much in that objection, and so I accept his opinion.

"I do not think it necessary to say anything more than that I wish to support the Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER said:—"With reference to the remarks of the Hon'ble Babu Boikanta Nath Sen, that in section 9 of the Act of 1880 the term 'grantees' only is used and not the 'grantees and their assigns,' I think the Hon'ble Member has overlooked the definition of the word 'grantee.' He will find in the preamble of the Act, that the concession was granted to 'Dillaya Parish, Alfred Parish and Robinson Souttar, and their assignes, hereinafter called the grantees.' Therefore the word 'grantees' includes the original concessionaires and their assigns, and this has been followed throughout the whole of the Act of 1880, and in no part of it do these additional words occur. The word used throughout the Act is 'grantees' simply.

"I do not think it necessary to add very much to what has been said. There seemed to be some danger at first lest we should lose sight of the question before the Council, but we have been brought back to the point by the Hon'ble Mr. Das and the Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Bannerjee. It is no part of the functions of this Council to settle the terms of agreement between the Corporation and the Tramways Company. That is a matter for the two contracting parties only, and, as I said last Saturday, all that we have to do is to see whether these terms are unconscionable or not, improvident or not."

The Hon'ble Mr. APCAR:—"I am not concerned to contradict that in the slightest degree."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER said:—"In that case I must agree with the observation made by the Hon'ble Mr. Das, that the greater part of what the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar said should be more in place at a meeting of the Corporation."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR:—"I am asked to agree with what I do not agree, and if I am not going to vote in support of the measure, I am entitled to give my reasons."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER said:—"The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar referred to the Committee of 1897 which considered this agreement. But he made no mention of the subsequent Committee appointed in the beginning of 1899."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR:—"I said I knew nothing more."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER said:—"The Hon'ble Member said he knew nothing more. He also said that he never saw this agreement until he found it in the Schedule of this Bill, but I find he was present and took part in a Corporation meeting on the 2nd August, 1899, at which the draft report of the Special Committee on which this agreement is framed was put before the Commissioners and adopted."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR:—"I happened to be present when the matter was submitted to a meeting of the Corporation. If my hon'ble friend were sufficiently informed, he would know that I protested and left the meeting refusing to be a party to the proceedings."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER said:—"There is no record of that. There are only two points more to which I shall refer. The Hon'ble Member said that certain works were undertaken to be completed by the 31st December, 1899, and that he was informed that 4,800 feet were not completed by that date. He did not mention the total quantity of work the Company had to do. The total amount that had to be done was 52,060 feet, and from the statement I have here, the total quantity of line which was not finished by the 31st December was 1,781 feet, that is to say, 98 per cent. of the work they had to do was finished within the appointed time and only 2 per cent. remained to be done, and that 2 per cent. has long since been finished to the satisfaction of the officers of the Corporation."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR:—"I may state that the information used by me was supplied by the Secretary to the Corporation."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER:—"My information is supplied by the Chairman to the Corporation."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR:—"My information is from official returns that are filed for record."

The Hon'ble MR. BAKER said:—"I have the official returns here. The last point to which I desire to refer is with reference to the remarks of the Hon'ble Member who represented the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham as an opponent of the Tramways Company. I do not know what Mr. Oldham's views may have been in February, 1899, but I do know that at the meeting of the Corporation on the 2nd August, 1899, at which Mr. Apcar was also present, he supported the present agreement. At this meeting he is reported to have said this: 'The Hon'ble Mr. Oldham found himself in the same position as Babu Kally Nath Mitter and Mr. Simmons. He was one of the strongest opponents of the present Company and of their pretentions, but the report of the Special Committee appeared to him to be a complete and reasonable settlement of the whole matter in dispute, and he hoped it would not be rejected.'

"Now let us consider what would be the position of the Corporation if the Council rejected this Bill. The time for purchasing the plant of the Tramways Company has passed. That is to say, though the time for purchasing does not actually expire till the 31st December next, they are entitled to six months' notice, and the date when notice of the intention of the Corporation to purchase should have been given is now passed. Therefore, it is not now open to the Corporation to purchase the plant of the Tramways Company at present, and it would be necessary for the Corporation to wait for seven years more, and when they came to purchase it, they would have to pay the sum of £490,000 for a concern which has paid no dividend for the last five years. They would only have the privilege of buying so much old iron broken-down cars and miserable country-bred ponies, and for that they would have to pay close upon half-a-million sterling. The present purchase clauses are not so favourable as those in the English Statute, but they are infinitely more favourable than those that subsist in the present Act, and a great advance on anything that we had before, and the best that could have been obtained from the Tramways Company.

"As no Hon'ble Member has opposed the motion for passing the Bill, I will ask that the motion be now put."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I did not understand the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar as oppposing the passing of the Bill at this meeting, as compared with passing the Bill at the next meeting."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR said:—"All that I say is that I cannot give my approval to this Bill. From first to last that has been my attitude. I do not wish in the least degree to stand in the way of any proceedings of this Council since the legislation is brought forward at the instance of the Corporation, which I represent in this Council, but I cannot have it recorded that I approved of these proceedings. My hon'ble friend, Mr. Baker, in referring to the meeting of the Corporation on the 2nd of August, said I was present at it. I wish to state that I left the meeting after recording my protest."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The Hon'ble Member does not understand my point. Does he oppose the passing of the Bill at the present sitting? Under Rule 44 of the Rules for the Conduct of Business in this Council, if any amendment be moved, without due and sufficient notice, any Hon'ble Member may object to the passing of the Bill at the same meeting. I do not know whether the Hon'ble Mr. Apcar wishes me to adjourn the passing of this Bill to another meeting."

The Hon'ble MR. APCAR:—"No, Sir, I do not."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Then the Motion is that the Bill, as amended, be passed."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned sine die.

Reported magnetic disturbance.

THE following Notice to Mariners (No. 442 of 1900) is republished:—

Recent observations point to a considerable local magnetic disturbance in different parts of Delagoa bay, the variation at Lorenzo Marques and in English river for the year 1900 being about 23° 15′ W., while at Timpson point, Shefina island, it is 20° 55′, and at Gibbon point, Elephant island, about 20° only.

Observations by swinging at sea off this place also point to the probability of the variation off this part of the coast being less than that given on Variation Chart by about 1½°, but sufficient data has not yet been received to enable the Chart to be corrected. (Notice No. 442 of 1900.)

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE BENGAL VETERINARY COLLEGE AND OF THE CIVIL VETERINARY DEPARTMENT, BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—AGRICULTURE.

Calcutta, the 18th August 1900.

RESOLUTION—No. 3111.

READ—

The Annual Report of the Bengal Veterinary College and of the Civil Veterinary Department, Bengal, for the year 1899-1900.

Letter No. 75T.A., dated the 8th July 1900, from the Director of Land Records, Bengal, submitting the above Report with his remarks.

The Annual Report of the Civil Veterinary Department of Bengal was received on the 20th of July, about 50 days later than the prescribed date. It contains a clear and brief account of the progress of the Veterinary College during the year, the development of local veterinary institutions, the history of the epidemics during the year, the experiments made with the object of checking disease, and the attempts made to improve the local breeds of cattle.

2. The Veterinary College.—The period of tuition now extends over three years, and it is satisfactory to find that all those who completed the second-year course last year continued their studies. The number of new students was large also; and altogether 36 pupils attended the annual examination, the results of which were very creditable to the Principal and tutors. Last year there were no Muhammadans in the College, but no less than five have now completed the first-year course.

3. Stipends.—All the students who appeared in the annual examinations held stipends, 22 being provided by Government and 14 by District Boards or private individuals. In addition valuable prizes were given to the most successful students by gentlemen interested in the welfare of the College.

4. The Infirmary.—The number of patients again increased, and if the arrangements now contemplated are completed, whereby the infirmary will be registered under the amended Cruelty to Animals Act, and the Entally Glanders Hospital of the Calcutta Municipality will be transferred to the College, there will be a large addition to the patients and increased opportunities to the students for the observation of animal diseases. Financially the receipts grew from Rs. 5,878 in the previous year to Rs. 6,355, whilst in consequence of various economies the expenses decreased from Rs. 5,553 to Rs. 4,502. The surplus of Rs. 1,853, which may be taken as a partial remuneration for the medical services rendered, is satisfactory and typical of the practical character of the administration of the College.

5. Veterinary Assistants.—As all the students of last year have continued their studies, the number of passed assistants has not increased. The demand for their services is great, and is likely to increase in the near future, as the scheme for the organisation of a veterinary department is developed. That scheme contemplates the eventual provision of a dispensary in each district with a veterinary assistant in charge and an itinerant assistant employed in the interior. Already most of the District Boards have agreed to these proposals in a modified form, and no doubt ultimately the success of these institutions in neighbouring districts will lead public opinion to insist on their adoption in the remainder. There will thus be for some years a steady demand for qualified assistants, to the best of whom will be open the prospect of employment on the inspecting staff which will ultimately be created. Meantime, of the 35 men who have passed out of the Belgatchia Institution, no less than 25 hold appointments and 6 are in private practice. Of the remainder 1 only has proved unsuccessful.

6. Veterinary Dispensaries.—A detailed report of these institutions has been submitted by the Superintendent, from which it is gathered that some are successful financially and professionally and others are only partially so. It is inferred, however, that all would have a greater chance of success if they received more constant support from the local authorities and enjoyed the benefit of more frequent inspections by the head of the provincial department. Veterinary-Major Raymond's opportunities for the inspection of outlying institutions were considerably lessened owing to the demands made on his time by the researches he carried on during the year with reference to rinderpest. The Lieutenant-Governor, while fully recognising the very valuable nature of these researches and the great ability with which they have been prosecuted by Major Raymond, desires that in future they may not be allowed to retard the very necessary duty of inspecting the work which is being done by veterinary assistants outside Calcutta.

The most notable example of private generosity in connection with the institution of veterinary institutions is that of Kumar Rameshwar Malia and other gentlemen of Howrah, who have subscribed over Rs. 30,000 for building and endowing a dispensary. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that it will prove to be so useful as to encourage other gentlemen elsewhere to follow this excellent example.

7. Outbreaks of epidemic disease.—Much evidence was accumulated during the year of the wide prevalence of glanders in Calcutta, and it is understood that proposals for combating this dangerous disease will shortly be submitted to Government. The other most notable outbreak of glanders was at Dumka, where steps were promptly taken to suppress the disease. Rinderpest too was fatal in an unusual degree in Calcutta. In the mufassal it does not appear to have been abnormally active, yet it is reported that in one district alone it carried off no less than 27,000 cattle. If these were worth only Rs. 10 each, the loss to the district was Rs. 2,70,000; and the maintenance of an even insignificantly successful veterinary staff in the district would have been a prudent measure of insurance.

8. Experiments.—An outbreak of rinderpest during the year at a large farm under European management afforded a favourable opportunity for testing the value of inoculation with bile as a preventive, and the results appear to fully justify the extension of experiments with this substance, but this excellent method will probably not for some time, owing to Hindu prejudices, be very extensively employed. In addition, other experiments which have been reported to Government were conducted during the year and appear to promise results of interest.

9. Improvement of stock.—The progress made in this direction was the least satisfactory feature of the work of the department during the year; but a scheme is under consideration for the opening of a breeding farm at Pusa in Darbhanga, which, it is hoped, will ultimately result in the steady supply of suitable bulls for the province. In the direction of horse-breeding it has been decided, with reluctance, that little can be done to counteract climatic and other adverse influences.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor thanks Veterinary-Major Raymond for his conduct of the affairs of the department, in developing which he has been equally energetic and successful.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

F. A. SLACKE,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA;
The 20th August 1900.

A. H. C. MACCARTHY,
Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE FINANCIAL RESULTS OF THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE INCOME-TAX DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1899-1900.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—SEPARATE REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 18th August 1900.

RESOLUTION—No. 4371S.R.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the financial results of the administration of the Income-tax for the year 1899-1900.

The following statement compares the financial results during the last two years :—

	1898-99.	1899-1900.
Number of persons originally assessed, excluding Government servants	115,643	118,152
Number of persons finally assessed, excluding Government servants	113,785	116,720
Number of persons finally assessed, including Government servants	122,978	126,080
Number of assessees, including Government servants, who paid tax within the year ...	119,324	122,788
	Rs.	Rs.
Final demand of income-tax	50,60,501	51,69,274
Final demand of income-tax, including penalties, fines, and arrears	52,67,536	54,11,336
Collections of income-tax within the year ...	49,31,568	50,49,367
Gross receipts	50,85,059	52,00,337
Charges	1,90,627	1,90,938
Percentage of charges on receipts	3·7	3·7
Net revenue	48,94,432	50,09,399

The net revenue shows an increase of Rs. 1,14,967, or an increase of 2·3 per cent. against an increase of 2·9 per cent. in the previous year. The gross receipts, including advance payments and excess collections, and making allowance for various adjustments, amounted to Rs. 52,00,337, of which Rs. 50,73,679 represent the receipts on account of the current demand for the year.

2. There was an increase in the final demand in all the districts, except Dacca, Hazaribagh, Bankura, Burdwan, Purnea, Muzaffarpur, Faridpur, Darjeeling, and Rajshahi, but in none of these districts did the percentage of decrease exceed 5·9, except in Dacca which shows a decline of 19·4. This is ascribed to the depressed condition of the jute trade during the year. In other cases, the causes given for the decrease are fortuitous, and call for no special comment. Enhanced assessments and the discovery of new assessees, combined with the comparative agricultural prosperity of the year, produced an increase in all districts other than those named above.

3. Assessments.—The number of villages (a street in Calcutta is held to be a village for this purpose) visited by the assessors was 72,647 against 74,519 during the preceding year, showing a decrease of 1,872. The decrease is examined in detail by the Board, and it appears to be due to accidental causes. The number of persons finally assessed was 116,720 against 113,785, showing an increase of 2·6 per cent. The decrease in Faridpur (68) is said to be due to the weeding out of improper assessments made in former years. But it is observed that the Deputy Collector's own work showed a marked decrease, while the exemptions on revision amounted to 3·8 per cent. and the number of successful objections was 42·7 per cent. It is apparent that there is much room for improvement in the work of this district. Calcutta again heads the list with an increase of 1,517 persons, followed by Midnapore, Monghyr, Khulna, Gaya, Bhagalpur, Puri, Mymensingh, and Darbhanga with increases varying from 200 to 100. A decrease occurred in 14 districts against 15 in the preceding year, but in no case was it as high as 100.

4. Demands, collections, and balances.—The following statement shows the original demand, the revised demand, and the percentage of collections from assessees, exclusive of Government servants :—

Year.	Original number of assessees.	Revised number of assessees.	Original demand.	Final demand after revision.	Amount of final demand collected.	Percentage of final demand collected.
			Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1898-99 ...	115,643	113,785	46,59,160	45,47,134	44,18,201	97·2
1899-1900 ...	118,452	116,720	47,89,616	46,57,149	45,37,242	97·4

The outstanding balance, including penalties, costs, and arrears, was Rs. 2,06,635 against Rs. 1,81,239 in the year 1898-99. Of this balance, Rs. 48,751 are reported to be good and under realisation, Rs. 1,04,755 doubtful, and Rs. 53,129 bad and irrecoverable.

5. Coercive measures.—The following table compares for the last three years the coercive measures taken for the realisation of the tax :—

Year.	Number of persons finally assessed.	Distress warrants.		Distraints.		Sales.
		Number.	Percentage to column 2.	Number.	Percentage to column 2.	Number.	Percentage to column 2.
1897-98 ...	111,680	5,753	5·2	2,172	1·9	357	·3
1898-99 ...	113,785	5,725	5·03	2,081	1·8	324	·3
1899-1900 ...	116,720	4,506	3·9	1,485	1·3	311	·3

Notwithstanding an increase in the total number of assessees and in the final demand, the different classes of coercive process for realisation of the tax show a general decrease, an indication that the tax was levied with less friction and trouble than in the preceding years. The proportion of warrants issued to the number of persons assessed does not exceed 10 per cent. in a single district. The high percentage in Jessore, noticed in last year's Resolution, which was attributed to the litigious nature of the people, and to the fact that the assessor had become too well acquainted with the district, has been reduced, since the transfer of the officer in question, from 12·2 to 5·6.

The largest number of sales reported was in Rangpur (65), Dinajpur (31), Khulna (22), and Jessore (20). The two districts first named have, for some years, had an unenviable prominence in the sale list, and it seems evident from the detailed analysis in paragraph 32 of the report that in the former district sales were held in some cases where they should not have been. The Board have recently revised the procedure for realisation of the tax from persons who, having been assessed on the basis of the previous year's assessment, die before the tax is realised; and trust that their orders will operate to minimise sales in districts where they have hitherto been largely resorted to.

6. Penalties and costs.—The demands and realisations under the heads of penalties and costs for the year under review, as compared with the previous year, are shown in the following statement :—

Year.	Penalties.		Costs.
	Demands.	Realisations.	Demands.	Realisations.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1898-99	29,532	14,983	13,226	9,3·4
1899-1900	29,895	15,492	11,891	8,621

7. The amount of tax collected during the year under review from companies and other employers, who agreed under section 9 (2) of the Income-tax Act to collect the tax from the salaries of their servants, rose from Rs. 3,49,551 in the previous year to Rs. 3,83,524; while the remission allowed by way of commission to the employers rose from Rs. 11,017 to Rs. 11,796. The number of companies who undertook to collect the tax also rose from 375 to 419. Two of them failed to collect the tax, which had to be realised by the District Officers. In Calcutta the number of companies collecting the tax rose from 251 to 288.

8. Incidence of the tax.—Excluding the tax on the interest on Government securities and the salaries of Government officials, the average incidence of the tax in the whole Province was Re. 1 to every 15·3 persons against an average of Re. 1 to every 15·6 persons in the preceding year. Darjeeling still continues to show the highest mufassal average, Re. 1 to every 4 persons, while the incidence was lowest in the Sonthal Parganas, viz., Re. 1 to 69 persons. In Calcutta the average incidence was Re. 1 to every ·4 persons, the same as in the previous year.

Including the taxes recovered by the Accountant-General, Bengal, the incidence was Re. 1 to every 13·8 persons against Re. 1 to every 14·6 persons in 1898-99.

The proportion of persons assessed for the whole Province was 1 in 610 against 1 in 625 in the preceding year.

A glance at the figures in column 14 of Return No. VIII appended to the report will show how the incidence of the tax varies even in adjoining districts. These variations attracted the attention of Government in 1898, and the Board were asked to consider whether assessments in the various districts were made on a uniform basis. Their report, which has been separately received, examines this question in detail. It is shown that many apparent inequalities are capable of explanation; and that, taking the province as a whole, there is no reason to believe that any district is conspicuously under or over-assessed. The personal equation of the assessor cannot of course be entirely eliminated, especially while, as is stated to be the case at present, these men are without any practical knowledge of trade or industry, and are selected because they possess a certain amount of school knowledge. It is minimised, however, by periodical transfers, and as time goes on, it will no doubt be found possible to obtain for the Department a class of officers possessing more of the qualifications necessary for the post. Complete uniformity can of course only be attained gradually.

In this connection the Board were also invited to consider whether a system of utilising non-official assessors in income tax work could, as in the North-Western Provinces, be usefully adopted in Bengal. The Board were of opinion that, while non-official assistance should be utilised to the fullest degree, provided there was nothing formal about it, the plan of formally associating non-officials with the assessor was, so far as Bengal is concerned, to be deprecated. In this view the Lieutenant-Governor concurs.

9. The following statement illustrates for the year under review and previous years, the distribution of the income-tax and of the other direct taxes which preceded it, as between Calcutta and the rest of the Province:—

* Figures not available.

† Exclusive of the tax on salaries, &c., recovered by the Accountant-General and the tax on the interest of Government securities.

These figures show a steady yearly increase in the amount of income-tax collected, Calcutta regularly contributing nearly as much as all the rest of the Province.

10. Expenditure.—The expenditure incurred in the working of the tax during the year under review rose from Rs. 1,90,627 in the previous year to Rs. 1,90,938. The increase occurred under the heads of "Collector's establishment," and "Warrant establishment."

11. Miscellaneous.—No case of embezzlement was reported during the year. Two prosecutions for attempting to extort money by personating assessors were instituted, and resulted in acquittal; but a conviction was obtained against a man who personated an assessor's peon. Cases of producing unadjusted or fabricated accounts of income are stated to be far too common, but to be as a rule impossible to prove in Court. One prosecution on this charge was instituted during the year, and is still pending.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to the Board for their administration of this Department during the year under review. Sir John Woodburn notes with pleasure the favourable remarks recorded by the Member in charge on the manner in which the tax is administered in Calcutta—"A steadily increasing revenue with a minimum of friction."

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JULY 1900.

General weather conditions from day to day.—Pressure at the beginning of the month was low over the whole province, the area of lowest pressure being in the north-west conformably with the direction followed by the storm which had passed over Bengal during the last week of the preceding month. Ordinary monsoon conditions prevailed over the Bay, but inland over the west of the province the gradient was small, and consequently except in the east of the land area, little rain was falling. The general character of the distribution remained practically unchanged with but slight fluctuations till the 6th of the month, and though the pressure was everywhere below the normal, the defect was almost uniform, so that the gradient of the monsoon current was normal for the period of the year.

The rainfall was fluctuating in amount, but fairly general with the exception of the first two or three days, when fair weather prevailed in Bihar, Chota Nagpur, and the adjacent western districts of Bengal. Temperature was for the first few days in excess in the western districts and in defect in the eastern, but a gradual change took place by which these conditions were reversed on the 5th. On the 6th slight signs of a disturbance showed themselves in the north west angle of the Bay; but though this developed in the course of the next few days into a fairly well-marked depression at the head of the Bay, the strength of the monsoon current in the Bay itself remained remarkably uniform, and in the absence of enforcement from behind, the depression failed to develop, and passed inland on the 10th, without ever acquiring the intensity of a cyclonic storm. After its disappearance the distribution over the Bay and the province again reverted to its former normal character. So slight, indeed, was the disturbance that the weather was hardly affected by it. Rainfall continued general, though light, and it was only on the 9th, i.e., the day on which the depression was passing inland, that heavier rain commenced to fall in the eastern districts. Temperature during the whole of this period remained remarkably steady and slightly in excess of the normal, the temporary defect noticed on the 5th in the west having speedily disappeared and the western districts having equally with the eastern come under the influence of higher temperature. That the mean temperature was during this period above the average was no doubt due to the intermittent character of the rainfall—bright intervals of sunshine alternating with bursts of rain. With the exception of a very slight strengthening of the current, the general character of the distribution over the Bay had during this period been remarkably steady, and on the 11th of July conditions over the Bay and the province were but little different from those at the beginning of the month. On the 12th a sudden fall of pressure over the whole area, the fall being greatest in the east of the province, coupled with the abnormal directions of the winds at the head of the Bay, seemed to indicate the development of a fresh disturbance in that quarter. On this occasion the disturbance grew with great rapidity, and after 24 hours had developed into a well-marked cyclonic storm of small intensity to the south of Saugor Island, which at once began to move from its place of formation. The pressure at the centre of the depression was never below 29·25 inches, the speed with which it formed, and began to move from the place of its origin, preventing it from developing into a storm of any severity. Its centre moved with great rapidity through Chota Nagpur and Bihar. The rainfall which accompanied its progress was for the most part light, the only heavy rainfall which can be directly attributed to its influence taking place in Orissa on the 12th, where a fall of 6 inches was recorded at False Point. The slight accentuation, however, of monsoon conditions which it produced gave rise for a day or two to more general distribution of rainfall of a moderate character over the whole province. With the cloudy weather, moreover, which prevailed during this period, temperature generally fell, and on the 15th the mean temperature was everywhere practically normal. Ordinary monsoon conditions now prevailed and continued from the 15th to the 18th. The rainfall was fairly general and in the eastern districts heavy. There was a tendency, however, for the rainfall area to withdraw during this period from Orissa, Chota Nagpur and South-West Bengal, owing to the area of relatively low pressure moving more to the east and north of the province. The cloudy weather prevailing caused the fall in temperature to continue, and on the 18th it was in almost general defect. From the 18th pressure conditions over the Bay and province began gradually to change. At first the barometer fell slowly over the south of the Bay and then rose briskly over the province. These changes resulted in the establishment in the course of a few days of an area of almost uniform pressure over the whole of the Bay. On the 20th the area to the south of latitude 20° was under the domination of uniform pressure, and a complete withdrawal of the monsoon current had taken place. Still a moderately steep gradient lingered over the province, and good—in some cases heavy—rain continued to fall over the east and north. After the 21st, however, an additional rise took place in the pressure over the province, and this, combined with a falling or a steady barometer in the south of the Bay, finally resulted in the complete disappearance on the 25th of the monsoon current, not only over the Bay, but also over the province. The unsettled condition, however, which prevailed while these changes were taking place, caused the rainfall to continue, and though its distribution in the rest of the province was irregular during this period, North and East Bengal received moderate to heavy rain for some days. It was only in fact on the 24th, when the withdrawal of the monsoon was nearly established, that the influence of this withdrawal became apparent in the almost complete absence of rain from the province. No sooner, however, had this uniformity of pressure fully established itself, than indications of a fresh inrush of monsoon winds from the south appeared, and before the end of the month the gradient over the Bay and province had recovered its normal steepness. As is usual when a fresh advance of the Bay current takes place, it was heralded by the formation of a small cyclonic storm. As early as the 27th a depression appeared to be forming in front of the advancing monsoon, but the energy of the air current behind being insufficient to cause it to develop, it disappeared on the following day, only to be replaced by another on the 30th, which, owing to the increased vitality of the monsoon in the interval, intensified on the 31st into a small cyclonic storm. Only for a period of some two or three days did the province remain practically without rain. As soon as signs of a fresh advance appeared, showers again began to be received; but though the precipitation was in some cases heavy, the rainfall to the end of the month was for the most part light and scattered. On the 18th there was general defect of temperature, and owing to the continued rainfall this defect increased still more in the east and north-east, while in the west and south-west, where the rainfall diminished, it gradually grew less, so that on the 21st mean temperature was below the normal in the former and above the normal in the latter regions. From the 21st to the 23rd temperature fell slightly in the west of the province, but after this rainfall conditions becoming less favourable, the temperature rose above the normal everywhere, and with slight temporary fluctuation in the east and the north of the province remained so till the end of the month.

General features of the monthly weather.—The most characteristic feature of the monthly weather is the very steady distribution of the pressure for the greater part of the period under review. A steady, though perhaps not very strong, monsoon prevailed for almost the whole of the month. The uniform character of the weather was broken only by a very brief withdrawal of the current during the latter half of the month and by only two small disturbances at the head of the Bay in the earlier part, if we leave out of consideration the storm which occurred on the last day of the month, as this latter chiefly affected the weather in August. Of these two disturbances, one was of so feeble a character as hardly to influence the weather at all, while the other developed and moved from the place of its formation so quickly that it only formed a feature of the weather for a day or two at most. Moreover, the influence which it exerted on the latter was also of the slightest. The complete withdrawal of the monsoon current towards the end of the month, occurring as it did at a time when great anxiety was being felt as to the behaviour of the monsoon of 1900, was naturally calculated to provoke a considerable amount of alarm, but the great rapidity with which normal conditions were re-established confirm the evidence we have from other parts of India that the monsoon current of 1900, though for the most part retarded in its advance, has been one of considerable depth and energy.

Pressure summary.—Owing chiefly to the excessive rise which occurred in the third week of the month, the mean pressure for the whole period has been slightly above the normal. During the first-half of the month there was general, though not excessive, defect. In the third week, however, a sharp rise began and continued almost unchecked till the 25th, causing the pressure for this period to be largely in excess. The fall which then commenced and continued to the end of the month was insufficient completely to counteract this excessive rise.

Temperature summary.—Mean maxima and minima temperatures have been above the average in South-West Bengal, South Bihar, Chota Nagpur, Orissa and the southern portion of East Bengal, the excess amounting to 2·6° at Cuttack and below the average in North Bihar, Assam, North Bengal and the greater part of East Bengal, the greatest defect from the minimum, i.e., 3·4, occurring at Dhubri. The line of division between excess and defect of temperature separates very nearly those regions which have received rain above the average and those where the rain has been less than usual.

Rainfall.—The rainfall over the greater part of the province, as will be seen from the above summary, was fairly continuous and well distributed. The two small storms which occurred in the first-half of the month had, as have been pointed out, but little influence on the weather, so that the rain which fell, being due to ordinary monsoon conditions and consequently more evenly distributed, was likely to be of a more beneficial character than a sudden precipitation caused by the passage of a cyclonic storm. South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur suffered somewhat owing to the moisture-laden winds being diverted for a certain period from these districts, and in consequence the amount received has been below the normal. Bankura, Howrah and Hooghly districts have suffered most in South-West Bengal In Chota Nagpur the percentage of the normal amount has been 61 and in South-West Bengal 79; North Bengal has received 122 per cent. and East Bengal 112 per cent.; but while almost all districts of the former have received the benefit of the excess fall, in the latter Chittagong and the Chittagong Hill Tracts are in considerable defect. Bihar has received 98 per cent., but the distribution here has been uneven, Patna and Gaya districts having received considerably less and Bhagalpur and Purnea considerably more than usual. Orissa is practically normal, having received 99 per cent., but here too excess in the Cuttack district makes up for deficiency in Puri.

The following table gives a comparison of the falls in the various divisions during the month of July with the normal fall, the actual being given as a percentage of the normal fall. The table also shows the actual falls for each of the previous months of the year expressed in the same way, and the last column of the table shows the total of the falls of the past seven months of the year in each division expressed as a percentage of the normal fall:—

The following table gives full data for the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of July in all districts of the Province. The figures are derived from the average and actual rainfall of the rain-recording stations in each district, due allowance being made for the area which each station represents. This gives a more accurate average than the arithmetical means given in the monthly meteorological tables. The first column gives the normal or average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 25 years; the second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the weighted actual rainfalls of the month at the reporting stations in each district; the third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall of the past month to the normal rainfall as a percentage; and the fourth column gives the same information in a slightly different form, expressing as a percentage how much the district rainfall varied in excess or in defect from the normal rainfall:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 23rd August 1900.

No. 148 Marine.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 50A of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, as amended by the Inland Steam-vessels Act (1884) Amendment Act, 1899, and with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, as required by section 69, sub-section (5) of the said Act, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following rules for the protection of inland steam-vessels from danger by collision.

R. B. BUCKLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RULES.

These rules are applicable to, and shall be followed by, all inland steam-vessels and all other vessels hereinafter specified on all inland waters in Bengal on which steam-vessels ply.

Preliminary.

For the purposes of these rules,—

(a) a vessel shall be deemed to be "under way" when she is not at anchor or made fast to the shore or aground ; and

(b) the word "visible" when applied to lights shall mean visible on a dark night with clear atmosphere.

Rules concerning lights, &c.

Article 1.—The rules concerning lights shall be complied with in all weathers from sunset to sunrise, and during such time no other lights which may be mistaken for the prescribed lights shall be exhibited.

Article 2 (1).—All steam-vessels when under way shall carry—

(a) in the forepart of the vessel above the awning roof a bright white light, so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the vessel, viz, from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 2 miles;

(b) on the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to two points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile;

(c) on the port side a red light so constructed as to show an unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass, so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible at a distance of at least 1 mile.

(2) The said green and red side-lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least 3 feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

Article 3.—A steam-vessel when towing other vessels which are lashed alongside shall have the white masthead light and the red and green side-lights so placed that they will be visible as set forth in Article 2 (1).

Article 4.—All vessels under oars or sails when under way shall not be obliged to carry the lights mentioned in Article 2 (1) (a), (b) and (c); but if they do not carry them, they shall, in those cases where there is a mast, carry a white light in a lantern so constructed as to show a clear, uniform and unbroken light visible all round, and in those cases where there is no mast, have ready at hand a lantern with a white light which shall be exhibited in time to prevent a collision.

Article 5.—A vessel, which is being overtaken by another, shall show from her stern to such last-mentioned vessel a white light.

Article 6.—Every vessel, when at anchor, shall carry, where it can best be seen, a white light in a lantern so constructed as to show a clear, uniform and unbroken light visible all round at a distance of at least 1 mile.

A vessel aground in or near a fairway shall carry the above light.

Sound-signals for Fog, etc.

Article 7.—All signals prescribed by this article for steam-vessels under way shall be given on the whistle or siren

The words "prolonged blast" used in these rules shall mean a blast of from 4 to 6 seconds' duration.

A steam-vessel shall be provided with an efficient whistle or siren, sounded by steam or some substitute for steam, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstruction, and also with an efficient bell.

In fog, mist, or heavy rain-storms, whether by day or by night, the signals described in this article shall be used as follows, viz.:—

(a) A steam-vessel having way upon her shall sound, at intervals of not more than two minutes, a prolonged blast.

(b) A steam-vessel under way, but stopped and having no way upon her, shall sound, at intervals of not more than two minutes, two prolonged blasts, with an interval of about one second between them.

(c) A steam-vessel, when at anchor, shall, at intervals of not more than one minute, ring the bell rapidly for about five seconds.

One prolonged blast should be given to convey a warning in the following cases:—

(a) When a steam-vessel approaches her destination.

(b) To attract the attention of other vessels, especially native craft.

(c) On approaching a bend in the channel.

Speed of Ships to be moderate in Fog, &c.

Article 8.—Every steam-vessel shall, in a fog, mist, or heavy rain-storms, go at a moderate speed, having careful regard to the existing circumstances and condition.

A steam-vessel hearing, apparently forward of her beam, the fog-signal of any other vessel, the position of which is not ascertained, shall, so far as the circumstances of the case admit, stop her engines, and then navigate with caution until danger of collision is over.

STEERING AND SAILING RULES.

Preliminary—Risk of Collision.

Article 9.—When two steam-vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This article only applies to cases where vessels are meeting end on, or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two vessels which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other.

The only cases to which it does apply are when each of the two vessels is end on, or nearly end on, to the other; and, by night, to cases in which each vessel is in such a position as to see both the side-lights of the other.

It does not apply, by day, to cases in which a vessel sees another ahead crossing her own course, or by night to cases where the red light of one vessel is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one vessel is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead.

Article 10.—When two steam-vessels are crossing, so as to involve risk of collision, the vessel which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

Article 11.—When a steam-vessel and sailing vessel are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam-vessel shall keep out of the way of the sailing vessel.

Article 12.—Where by any of these rules one of two vessels is to keep out of the way, the other shall keep her course and speed:

Provided that when, in consequence of thick weather or other cause, the vessel which should be given way to finds herself so close that collision cannot be avoided by the action of the giving-way vessel alone, she also shall take such action as will best aid to avert collision.

Article 13.—Every steam-vessel, which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel, shall, if the circumstances of the case admit, avoid crossing ahead of the other.

Article 14.—Every steam-vessel, which is directed by these rules to keep out of the way of another vessel, shall on approaching her, if necessary, slacken her speed or stop or reverse.

Article 15.—Notwithstanding anything contained in these rules, every steam-vessel overtaking any other shall keep out of the way of the overtaken vessel.

Every steam-vessel coming up with another vessel from any direction more than two points abaft her beam, i.e., in such a position with reference to the vessel which she is overtaking, that at night she would be unable to see either of that vessel's side-lights, shall be deemed to be an overtaking vessel; and no subsequent alteration of the bearing between the two vessels shall make the overtaking vessel a crossing vessel within the meaning of these rules, or relieve her of the duty of keeping clear of the overtaken vessel until she is finally past and clear.

As by day the overtaking vessel cannot always know with certainty whether she is forward of or abaft this direction from the other vessel, she should, if in doubt, assume that she is an overtaking vessel and keep out of the way.

Article 16.—In narrow channels every steam-vessel shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of the fairway or mid-channel which lies on the starboard side of such vessel.

Article 17.—In obeying and construing these rules, due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and collision, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

SOUND SIGNALS FOR VESSELS IN SIGHT OF ONE ANOTHER.

Article 18.—The words "short blast" used in these rules shall mean a blast of about one second's duration.

Every steam-vessel under way shall, when in sight of any other vessel in taking any course authorised or required by these rules, indicate that course by the following signals on her whistle or siren, viz.:—

One short blast to mean, "I am directing my course to starboard."

Two short blasts to mean, "I am directing my course to port."

Three short blasts to mean, "My engines are going full speed astern."

PROPER PRECAUTIONS TO BE [illegible]N IN ALL CASES.

Article 19.—Nothing in these rules shall exonerate the owner, or master, or crew of any steam-vessel from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper look-out, or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

Article 20.—If two steam-vessels, with or without vessels in tow, meet in a narrow channel or rounding a point, or in a place where the presence of a third vessel makes it difficult to pass, the one going against the tide shall slacken her speed until the other has cleared the difficulty.

Article 21.—In rivers that are so narrow that they will not allow two steam-vessels meeting with flats in tow to pass each other without one of them making fast to the bank, the steamer going with the tide shall make fast to allow the one going against the stream to pass her.

Article 22.—No steam-vessel shall attempt to strive or race against another. When steam-vessels are proceeding in the same direction, but with unequal speed, the vessel which is steaming slowest shall in the narrow reaches of a river offer no obstruction whatever by crossing the channel or otherwise to the free passage of the faster vessel, and shall ease and, if necessary, stop the engines as soon as the faster vessel comes abreast in order to allow her to freely pass. The Master or Pilot of the faster vessel, if intending to pass, shall intimate such approach by a prolonged blast from his steam whistle. But no vessel will be justified in passing such vessel at any of the turning points or bends of a river, nor in a part of the channel so narrow that a third vessel could not with safety pass them.

Article 23.—Steam-vessels crossing from one side of the river to the other shall keep out of the way of vessels navigating up and down the river.

PENALTY FOR DISOBEDIENCE OF THE RULES.

Article 24.—Any person committing a breach of any of these rules shall, for each offence, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

(3) to set aside, under the proviso to section 9, any appointment made in pursuance of clause (b) of the said section 9,

The application shall be supported by evidence on affidavit, and copies of all affidavits and grounds to be used by the party moving shall be served with the notice of motion. The notice of motion with affidavit of service and original grounds shall be filed in Court before the day for which notice of motion has been given; and all affidavits and grounds on which the application is to be opposed or cause to be shown must be filed on or before the sitting of the Court on the day of showing cause.

Special case.

II.—The arbitrators or umpire under the powers contained in section 10, clause (b), may, before the conclusion of any reference before them or him or by their or his award, state a special case for the opinion of the Court. Every case stated under this section shall be divided into consecutively numbered paragraphs and shall concisely state such facts and documents as may be necessary to enable the Court to deliver its opinion thereon.

III.—The special case shall be presented to a Judge in Chambers by or on behalf of one or more of the parties claiming to be interested, and if framed in accordance with this rule, shall be filed. When so filed, it shall be numbered and registered as a suit between the party or parties by or on whose behalf it shall be presented as plaintiff or plaintiffs and the other or others of them as defendant or defendants, and notice shall be given to all the parties to the reference other than the party or parties by whom the special case was presented.

IV.—The case shall be set down for hearing, and the Court shall, after hearing the parties on the matters contained in the special case, pronounce judgment thereon.

V.—If the special case be stated before the conclusion of the reference, the opinion of the Court shall be returned to the arbitrators or umpire, as the case may be, and shall be added to and shall form part of the award.

VI.—If the special case be stated on the conclusion of the reference and if the award of the arbitrators or umpire under the reference made to them or him be made or stated in the form of a special case, judgment shall be pronounced and entered according to the opinion of the Court, and upon the judgment so given a decree shall follow and shall be enforced in the manner provided in the Code of Civil Procedure for the execution of decrees.

RESOLUTION ON THE STATISTICAL INFORMATION FURNISHED BY THE BOARD OF REVENUE REGARDING THE STAMP DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1899-1900.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—SEPARATE REVENUE.

Darjeeling, the 26th August 1900.

RESOLUTION—No. 1008T.F.

READ—

A memorandum, No. 633B., dated the 4th August 1900, from the Board of Revenue, submitting statistical information regarding the Stamp Department for the year 1899-1900.

The receipts, charges, and net revenue in 1899-1900, under the Indian Stamp Acts, I of 1879 and II of 1899, and the Court-fees Act, VII of 1870, were Rs. 1,82,81,507, Rs. 5,01,939 and Rs. 1,77,79,568, respectively, against Rs. 1,73,81,080, Rs. 4,84,670 and Rs. 1,68,96,410 in the preceding year. The increase in receipts occurred in both judicial and non-judicial stamps.

2. According to the figures furnished by the Superintendent of Stamps, which are subject to adjustment with the final figures compiled by the Accountant-General, Bengal, the sale-proceeds of non-judicial stamps show a net increase of Rs. 2,78,119, which was contributed by all classes of stamps, except notarial and advocate, vakil and attorney stamps. The revenue derived from the sale of impressed sheets, the most important of the non-judicial stamps, amounted to Rs. 32,55,526, against Rs. 31,83,092 in the preceding year. This amount, however, is considerably below the average of the preceding three years, during two of which scarcity, by compelling numerous transfers of land, caused an abnormal increase in the revenue from this source. The increase on last year's figures was divided among 25 districts; there being a decrease in 21. The largest increases were in Gaya (Rs. 30,174), Calcutta (Rs. 15,009), Burdwan (Rs. 10,790), Tippera (Rs. 9,958) and Jessore (Rs. 8,309). The increase in Calcutta is due to the purchase of stamps of large values for transfer of mufassal properties, while in Burdwan it is said to be due partly to the enhanced stamp duty chargeable on perpetual leases under the new Stamp Act, which came into force with effect from the 1st July 1899, and partly to the sale proceeds of an increased number of pleaders' and mukhtars' certificates. Impressed labels, which are used only in Calcutta, improved by Rs. 1,27,264, owing to the enhancement of the stamp duty payable on awards in partition cases and on leases granted in perpetuity, to general increase of business and to the transfer and mortgage of certain ten estates for large considerations. The revenue derived from the sale of receipt or one-anna stamps improved by Rs. 17,380, the largest increase occurring in Calcutta. The liability of all local fund cheques, irrespective of their amounts, to stamp duty under the new Act is the main factor in accounting for this increase. Owing to the briskness of the share market in consequence of the rise in the price of coal and jute shares, there was a large increase in Calcutta in the sale of share transfer and foreign bill stamps. The revenue derived from the sale of hundi or bill-of-exchange stamps amounted to Rs. 1,02,632, against Rs. 78,606 in 1898-99. The largest increase (Rs. 19,924) occurred in Calcutta, and is attributed by the Board chiefly to the institution of a number of criminal prosecutions against native traders in Calcutta and the mufassal for drawing hundis on paper bearing only one-anna receipt stamps.

3. The sale-proceeds of judicial stamps increased from Rs. 1,25,29,890 in 1898-99 to Rs. 1,32,03,128, showing an increase of Rs. 6,73,238. The largest increases occurred in Muzaffarpur (Rs. 99,009), Calcutta (Rs. 61,785), Tippera (Rs. 47,772), Dacca (Rs. 46,169), Faridpur (Rs. 36,772), Pabna (Rs. 27,694), Chittagong (Rs. 26,961), Mymensingh (Rs. 24,830), Cuttack (Rs. 22,032) and Murshidabad (Rs. 21,686). The increase was due to increased litigation, to the high value of some of the suits, and, in some districts, to improved receipts from probate duties. If litigation is a correct measure of prosperity, as is usually supposed, the people of Bengal are to be congratulated on their present condition, for the figure for the year under review is the highest ever recorded in Bengal.

4. The number of cases in which deficient stamp duty and penalty were levied by the Civil and Revenue Courts during the year was 3,689, against 3,370 in 1898-99, and the amount of duty and penalty realised was Rs. 37,980, as compared with Rs. 34,181. Prosecutions for the infringement of the provisions of the Indian Stamp Acts were instituted in 660 cases, against 1,274 in the preceding year. The fines imposed on offenders amounted to Rs. 5,959, against Rs. 5,224 in 1898-99, and rewards to informers paid in six districts aggregated Rs. 3,681, against Rs. 2,467 paid in four districts in the previous year.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. N. BAKER,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The undertakers shall, upon being required to do so by the owners or occupier of any premises situate within fifty yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are, for the time being, required to maintain a supply of energy for the purposes of general supply to private consumers under this license, or any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license, give, and continue to give, a supply of energy for such premises, in accordance with the provisions of this license, and of all such regulations and conditions, as aforesaid, and they shall furnish, and lay, any electric lines that may be necessary for the purpose of supplying the maximum power with which any such owner or occupier may be entitled to be supplied under this license, subject to the conditions following (that is to say), the cost of so much of any electric line for the supply of energy to any owner or occupier as may be laid upon the property of such owner or in the possession of such occupier, and of so much of any such electric lines as may be laid for a greater distance than sixty feet from any distributing main of the undertakers, although not on such property, shall be defrayed by such owner or occupier.

41. Every owner or occupier of premises requiring a supply of energy shall—

(a) serve a notice upon the undertakers, specifying the premises in respect of which such supply is required, and the maximum power required to be supplied, and the day (not being an earlier day than a reasonable time after the date of the service of such notice) upon which such supply is required to commence: and

(b) enter into a written contract with the undertakers (if required by them so to do) to continue to receive, and pay for, a supply of energy for a period of at least three years, of such an amount, that the rent payable for the same at the rate of charge for the time being charged by the undertakers for a supply of energy to ordinary consumers within the area of supply, shall not be less than twenty rupees per centum per annum on the outlay incurred by the undertakers in providing any electric lines required to be provided by them for the purpose of such supply, and give to the undertakers (if required by them so to do) security for the payment to them of all moneys which may, from time to time, become due to them by such owner or occupier in respect of any electric lines to be furnished by the undertakers, and in respect of energy to be supplied by them:

Provided, always, that the undertakers may, after they have given a supply of energy for any premises, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier of such premises, within seven days after the date of the service of such notice, to give to them security for the payment of all moneys which may, from time to time, become due to them in respect of such supply, in case such owner or occupier has not already given such security, or in case any security given has become invalid, or is insufficient; and in case any such owner or occupier fail to comply with the terms of such notice, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues:

Provided, also, that if the owner or occupier of any such premises, as aforesaid, uses any form of lamp or burner, or uses the energy supplied to him by the undertakers for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner so as to unduly or improperly interfere with the efficient supply of energy to any other body or person by the undertakers, the undertakers may, if they think fit, discontinue to supply energy to such premises so long as such user continues:

Provided, also, that the undertakers shall not be compelled to give a supply of energy to any premises unless they are reasonably satisfied that the electric lines, fittings, and works therein are in good order and condition, and not calculated to affect, injuriously, the use of energy by the undertakers or by other persons:

Provided, also, that in the event of any alterations of, or additions to, any electric lines, fittings, or works within such premises, as aforesaid, all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the undertakers by the occupiers before being connected to the source of supply, with a view to their being examined and tested.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to the reasonableness of the amount of any security required to be given, or as to the sufficiency of any security offered under this section, or as to the improper use of energy, or as to any alleged defect in any lines, fittings, or works, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Maximum power.

42 The maximum power with which any such consumer shall be entitled to be supplied shall be of such amount as he may, from time to time, require to be supplied with, not exceeding what may be reasonably anticipated as the maximum consumption on his premises:

Provided that, where any consumer has required the undertakers to supply him with a maximum power of any specified amount, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum, except upon one month's notice to the undertakers, and any expenses incurred by the undertakers in respect of the service lines by which energy is supplied to the premises, of such consumer, or any fittings, or apparatus of the undertakers upon such premises, consequent upon such alteration, shall be paid by him to the undertakers, and may be recovered summarily as a civil debt.

If any difference arises between any such owner or occupier and the undertakers as to what may be reasonably anticipated as the consumption on his premises, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Supply of energy to public lamps.

43. The undertakers, upon receiving reasonable notice from the Local Government or the local authority, requiring them to supply energy to any public lamps within the distance of seventy-five yards from any distributing main of the undertakers in which they are, for the time being, required to maintain a current of energy for the purposes of general supply under this license, or any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license, shall give, and continue to give, a supply of energy to such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority may, from time to time, require to be supplied.

Penalty for failure to supply.

44 Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to any owner or occupier of premises to whom they may be, and are, required to supply energy, under this license, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees in respect of every such default for each day during which any such default occurs.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy to the public lamps to which they may be, and are, required to supply energy, under this license, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees in respect of every such default for each such lamp, and for each day during which any such default occurs.

Whenever the undertakers make default in supplying energy in accordance with the terms of any regulations and conditions subject to which they are authorised to supply energy under this license, they shall be liable to such penalties as may, by such regulations and conditions, be prescribed in that behalf:

Provided, always, that when such default is due to cyclones, or floods, or storms, or other causes not under the control of, or due to default of, the undertakers, no penalty shall be enforced if the undertakers show due diligence in resuming the supply:

Provided that the penalties to be inflicted on the undertakers under this section shall in no case exceed, in the aggregate, the sum of five hundred rupees in respect of any defaults not being wilful defaults on the part of the undertakers for any one day, and provided, also, that in no case shall any penalty be inflicted in respect of any default if the court, having cognizance of the case, shall be of opinion that such default was caused by inevitable accident, or force majeure, or was of so slight or unimportant a character as not materially to affect the value of the supply.

Price.

Methods of charging.

45. The undertakers may charge for energy supplied by them to any ordinary consumer (otherwise than by agreement)—

(1) by the actual amount of energy so supplied; or

(2) by the electrical amount contained in such supply; or, unless the Local Government, from time to time, otherwise direct;

(3) by the number of hours during which the supply of energy is actually used by such consumer, and the maximum power with which he is, for the time being, entitled to be supplied;

Provided that, before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main for the purposes of general supply, the undertakers shall give notice to the Local Government, and to the local authority, by what method they propose to charge for energy supplied through such main; and where the undertakers have given any such notice, they shall not be entitled to change such method of charging, except after one month's notice of such change has been given by them to the Local Government, and the local authority, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by them from such main:

Provided, also, that when the undertakers have given notice to any consumer of charging him by the number of hours, and the maximum power, in manner above described, such consumer, if he objects to that method of charge, may, by one month's notice in writing, require the undertakers to charge him by the actual quantity of energy supplied to him, and thereafter the undertakers shall not, except with the consumer's consent, charge him by any other method.

Maximum prices.

46. The prices to be charged by the undertakers for energy supplied by them shall not exceed those stated in that behalf in the fourth schedule, in the first, second, and third sections thereof, respectively: Provided that, if the Local Government are of opinion that, or the local authority, or the undertakers shall, at any time after the expiration of seven years after the commencement of this license, make a representation to the Local Government that the prices, or methods of charge stated in the said schedule ought to be altered, the Local Government, after such enquiry as they may think fit, may make an order varying the prices, or methods of charge, in lieu thereof, and the prices, or methods of charge so varied, or substituted, shall have effect on, and after, such day as may be mentioned in the order, as if they had been stated in the said schedule: Provided, also, that the prices, and methods of charge for the time being in force, may be altered, in like manner, at any time after the expiration of any, or every, period of seven years after the same were last altered.

Other charges by agreement.

47. Subject to the provisions of this license and of the principal Act, and the right of the consumer to require that he shall be charged according to some one or other of the methods abovementioned in cases where he is entitled to require a supply, the undertakers may make any agreement with a consumer as to the price to be charged for energy, and the mode in which such charges are to be ascertained, and may charge accordingly.

Price to public lamps.

48. The price to be charged by the undertakers, and to be paid to them for all energy supplied to the public lamps, and the mode in which such charges shall be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the Local Government or local authority and the undertakers, as the case may be, and, in the event of difference, by arbitration, regard being had to the circumstances of the case, and the distributing, or other mains (if any) which may have to be laid for the purpose, and the prices charged to ordinary consumers in the district.

Meters and Apparatus.

Meters to be used except by agreement.

49. The energy supplied by the undertakers to any ordinary consumers under this license, or the electrical quantity contained in such supply (according to the method by which the undertakers elect to charge), in this license referred to as "the value of the supply," shall, except as otherwise agreed between such consumer and the undertakers, be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, duly certified under the provisions of this license.

Meters to be certified.

50. A meter shall be considered to be duly certified under the provisions of this license if it be certified by an electric inspector, appointed under this license, to be of some construction and pattern, and to have been fixed, and to have been connected with the service lines, in some manner approved of by the Local Government, and to be a correct meter; and every such meter is, in this order, referred to as a "certified meter:" Provided that where any alteration is made in any certified meter, or where any such meter is unfixed, or disconnected from, the service lines, such meter shall cease to be a certified meter, unless, and until, it be again certified as a certified meter under the provisions of this license.

51. Every electric inspector, who may be required by the undertakers, or by any consumer, to examine any meter for the purpose of certifying the same as a certified meter under the provisions of this license, shall be entitled to demand, from the undertakers, or consumer, so requiring him, and to be paid, such fees as may, from time to time, be determined, in that behalf, by the Local Government, before commencing such examination, and every electric inspector shall, upon being required so to do by the undertakers, or any such consumer, as aforesaid, examine any meter situate within the district for which he is appointed, if such fees are offered to him, as aforesaid, and shall certify the same as a certified meter if he considers it entitled to be so certified.

Undertakers to supply meters if required to do so.

52. Where the value of the supply is, under this license, required to be ascertained by means of an appropriate meter, the undertakers shall, if required so to do by the consumer, supply him with an appropriate meter, and shall, if required so to do, fix the same upon the premises of the consumer, and connect the service lines therewith, and procure such meter to be duly certified under the provisions of this license, and, for such purposes, may authorise and empower any officer or person to enter upon such premises, and execute all necessary works, and do all necessary acts: Provided that, previously to supplying any such meter, the undertakers may require such consumer to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the price of such meter, or to give security therefor, or may require him to enter into an agreement for the hire of such meter as hereinafter provided, and also to pay to them a reasonable sum in respect of the expenses of fixing such meter, and connecting it with the service lines, and procuring the same to be certified under this license.

If any difference arises between the undertakers and any consumer under this section, such difference shall be determined by arbitration.

Meters not to be connected or disconnected without notice.

53. No consumer shall connect any meter used, or to be used, under this license, for ascertaining the value of the supply, with any electric line through which energy is supplied by the undertakers or disconnect any such meter from any such electric line, unless he has given, to the undertakers, not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention so to do, and if any person acts in contravention of this section, he shall be liable, for each offence, to a penalty not exceeding twenty rupees

Consumer to keep his meter in proper order.

54. Every consumer of energy supplied by the undertakers shall, at all times, at his own expense, keep all meters belonging to him, whereby the value of the supply is, under this license, to be ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and, in default of his so doing, the undertakers may cease to supply energy through such meter.

The undertakers shall have access to, and be at liberty to take off, remove, test, inspect, and replace, any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that all reasonable expenses of, and incident to, any such taking off, removing, testing, inspecting and replacing, and the procuring such meter to be again duly certified where such recertifying is thereby rendered necessary, shall, if the meter be found to be not in proper order, be paid by the consumer, but if the same be in proper order, all expenses connected therewith shall be paid by the undertakers.

Power to the undertakers to let meter.

55. The undertakers may let for hire any meter for ascertaining the value of the supply, and any fittings thereto, and any other apparatus required for their undertaking, for such remuneration in money, and on such terms, with respect to the repair of such meter, or apparatus, and fittings, and for securing the safety and return, to the undertakers, of such meter, or apparatus, and fittings, as may be agreed upon between the hirer and the undertakers, or, in case of difference, be decided by the Local Government, and such remuneration shall be recoverable by the undertakers summarily as a civil debt.

Undertakers to keep meter let for hire in repair.

56. The undertakers shall, unless the agreement of hire otherwise provides, at all times, at their own expense, keep all meters, let for hire by them to any consumer, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained, in proper order for correctly registering such value, and, in default of their so doing, the consumer shall not be liable to pay rent for the same during such time as such default continues. The undertakers shall, for the purposes aforesaid, have access to, and be at liberty to remove, test, inspect, and replace, any such meter at all reasonable times: Provided that the expenses of procuring any such meter to be again duly certified, where such recertifying is, thereby, rendered necessary, shall be paid by the undertakers.

Differences as to correctness of meter to be settled by inspector, or Local Government officer.

57. If any difference arises between any consumer and the undertakers as to whether any meter, whereby the value of the supply is ascertained (whether belonging to such consumer or the undertakers) is, or is not, in proper order for correctly registering such value, or as to whether such value has been correctly registered, in any case, by any meter, such difference shall be determined, upon the application of either party, by an electric inspector, or, where the Local Government are the consumers, by an officer to be appointed by the Local Government, who shall also order by which of the parties the costs of the proceedings before him shall be paid, and the decision of such inspector or officer shall be final and binding on all parties. Subject, as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall be conclusive evidence, in the absence of fraud, of the value of the supply.

Undertakers to pay expenses of providing new meters where method of charge altered.

58. Where any consumer who is supplied with energy by the undertakers from any distributing main is provided with a certified meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply, and the undertakers change the method of charging for energy supplied by them from such main, the undertakers shall pay to such consumer the reasonable expenses to which he may be put in providing a new meter for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the supply according to such new method of charging, and such expenses may be recovered by the consumer from the undertakers summarily as a civil debt.

Undertakers may place meters to measure supply, or to check measurement thereof.

59. In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of any consumer to ascertain the value of the supply, the undertakers may, from time to time, place upon his premises such meter, or other apparatus, as they may desire, for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to such consumer, or the number of hours during which such supply is given, or the maximum amount of such supply, or any other quantity, or time, connected therewith: Provided that such meter shall be of some construction and pattern, and shall be fixed and connected with the service lines in some manner approved by the Local Government, and shall be supplied and maintained entirely at the cost of the undertakers, and shall not, except by agreement, be placed otherwise than between the mains of the undertakers and the terminals on the consumer's premises at which the supply is given.

62. If, at any time, after the commencement of this license, the local authority make a representation to the Local Government, or the Local Government themselves are of opinion that the undertakers have made any default in executing works or supplying energy in accordance with the terms of the license, and that such default is in consequence of the insolvency of the undertakers, and that by reason of such insolvency the undertakers are unable, fully and effectually, to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon them by this license, the Local Government shall enquire into the truth of such representation, and if, upon such enquiry, they are satisfied of the truth of such representation, they shall, upon the application of the local authority, or at their own discretion, revoke this license as to the whole, or, with the consent of the undertakers, as to any part of the area of supply.

69. Where the Local Government, upon the application of the undertakers, give any approval, or grant any extension of any time, limited for the performance of any duties by the undertakers, or where the Local Government, at their own discretion, or upon the application of the local authority, revoke this license, as to the whole, or any part of the area of supply, notice that such approval has been given, or such extension of time granted, or such revocation made, shall be published, by public advertisement, once, at least, in each of two successive weeks, in some one and the same local newspaper, by the body by whom such application is made, as aforesaid.

As to mortgages.

74. Nothing in this license shall prevent the undertakers borrowing money on the security of mortgages of the undertaking, or shall make the consent or approval of the Local Government or local authority necessary to the validity or effect or any such mortgage: Provided that every mortgage of the undertaking shall be deemed to comprise all purchase-money, which may be paid to the undertakers in the event of any sale or transfer of the undertaking, or of any part thereof, under this license, and that any mortgage granted by the undertaker shall not be a charge upon the undertaking, or any part thereof, in the event of the undertaking or such part, being purchased, or transferred as aforesaid, and that every mortgage-deed granted by the undertakers shall be endorsed with notice to that effect.
